WACO BOOSTERS STORM FT. WORTH

PANTHER CITY CAPITULATES; RECEIVES VISITORS WITH OPEN ARMS.

COWBOYS GIVE GLAD SALUTE

Rousing Reception Followed by Parade
Through Streets and Visit to Fat Stock Show.

Waco boosters to the number of 475, the largest delegation that ever journeyed on a similar mission, invaded Fort Worth yesterday and from 12:15 o'clock noon until 10:45 o'clock last night they reigned supreme in the streets and clubs of the Panther City. Riding on a special train of seven coaches, the Wacoans made the journey to repay the Fort Worth boosters for the visit made to the Cotton Palace. In doing so Waco doubled the number of boosters that Fort Worth sent to the exposition in this city and had seventy-five to spare.

The Biggest and Best.
It was by far the biggest and the best trades excursion that has ever gone out of Waco.

Leaving the Katy station at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, the trip was made to Fort Worth with a single stop. This was at Grandview, where the train alighted. The special reached Fort Worth within ten minutes of scheduled time.

As the Waco delegation, men and women, alighted from the train in the Fort Worth yards they were met by a delegation of more than 250 Fort Worth people, who gave them a rousing welcome.

Marching to Music.
With Alexander's band playing and leading the line of March, the boosters passed through the Texas and Pacific station at Fort Worth and onto the streets. Here they were met by a detachment of Fort Worth police and a party of cowboys.

"Punchers," headed by W. H. Daggett and Glenn Allen of Fort Worth, and twelve strong, gave the Wacoans a western welcome. Firing their six shooters into the air and yelling as only the true westerner can, they greeted the visitors.

They See Who's Here.
Waco returned the salute with lusty cheers that echoed through the Main street and out into the by-ways, and which caused shop girls and clerks, business men and banker to peek out the window to see "who's here."

Headed by the "punchers" and a delegation of Fort Worth police, the Wacoans began their parade up the principal street of the town. Mounted and provided for Sheriff S. R. Fleming and Constable Leslie St. John and they acted as marshals of the parade.

Waco police in uniform, ten strong, followed in the rear. The "punchers," headed by W. H. Daggett and Glenn Allen, followed in the rear. The "punchers," headed by W. H. Daggett and Glenn Allen, followed in the rear.

Cheered Along the Route.
The effect was a complete conquest of Fort Worth. The long line of Wacoans passed up the street, leading step to the Waco band in front and the Fort Worth band in the rear, waving banners and shouting, they were greeted with their cheer.

For block after block the triumphant march proceeded, while the thousands lined the streets to see Waco go by. Marching straight up Main street, the leaders passed into the lobby of the Westbrock hotel, where they did so the escort of cowboys drew their pistols to one side and again fired a pistol salute. Playing "There'll Be a Hot Time," the Waco band marched around the lobby of the Westbrock hotel, where they did so the escort of cowboys drew their pistols to one side and again fired a pistol salute.

Rotarians and Ad Men There.
At a signal the music ceased. As it did the Fort Worth reception committee, representing the Rotary Club, the Merchants and Exporters Association and the Chamber of Commerce, came forward and claimed as guests those Waco people who were members of those various clubs.

The reception committee must the train as it pulled into the station and extended hands of greeting.

"Showing" Fort Worth.
But the Waco crowd was too busy to spend the time. Their entire attention was centered on the march through the streets of Fort Worth just to show the Fort Worth people "what Waco could do." So it was not until the line of march had disbanded at the lobby of the Westbrock that the visiting Fort Worth reception committee were enabled to meet their guests.

Luncheon for Rotarians.
Awaiting the Waco Rotarians was a committee to escort them to luncheon. Also committees from the Ad club and the chamber of commerce awaited to care for the remainder of the Waco delegation. The Rotarians were piloted to a grill room on the first floor of the hotel, where they were the guests of the Fort Worth Rotary club at luncheon. The remainder of the Waco delegation were taken to the sixth floor of the hotel, where a luncheon was served, the hosts being the Ad club and the chamber of commerce.

After the luncheon the Wacoans

Texas Suffragettes Very Determined

San Antonio, Nov. 26.—San Antonio suffrage workers are determined to make themselves heard at Washington through the members of the Texas delegation. Beginning last night and continuing every night until all the representatives and the two senators have been approached and until answers have been received, telegrams will be sent urging the cause of votes for women.

Model City Charter by Professor James

Austin, Nov. 26.—Professor Herman G. James, director of the bureau of municipal research and reference at the University of Texas, has announced the completion of the model city charter, the preparation of which was undertaken with a view to assisting Texas cities in reforming their frames of government under the home rule amendment and enabling act.

Stock Exchange to Protect Investor

New York, Nov. 26.—The New York stock exchange, through its governing board, today announced its intention to co-operate in the future as far as possible in bringing about the adoption of uniform measures for the greater protection of the investing public through more careful supervision of corporation organizations. To this end it will recommend greater publicity and fuller and more frequent reports of operations than has been customary with many corporations in the past.

Unique Wedding Gift to Mrs. Sayre

New York, Nov. 26.—One of the unique wedding gifts received by Miss Jessie Wilson, now Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre, it developed here tonight was a beautiful American emerald of about three carats weight, presented by Lovell at Fraser, of this city, through his friend, Dr. W. T. Grenfell. The emerald is a product of the south, giving it an added value to the recipient. It was discovered on North Carolina property owned by Mr. Fraser, and was cut by American lapidaries. It was enclosed in a heart shaped silver box inscribed with the monogram, "J. W. W." The box resided in a Siberian malachite jewel case.

Coal Is Found Near the Town of Gustine

Gustine, Tex., Nov. 26.—Well drillers, who are sinking a well on the G. T. Nelson tract near the cemetery here, struck their drill through a vein of coal eleven feet thick and only fifty-two feet from the surface.

The find created considerable excitement and complete tests will be made to ascertain the quality of coal and extent of the field. This vein is completely believed to be the lignite stratum that underlies the state in a diagonal direction from northwest to southeast and which affords profitable mining near Calvert.

Nacogdoches Conference.
Nacogdoches, Nov. 26.—The Texas Methodist conference convened here this morning with about 100 ministers and delegates present and about 150 visitors. Bishop Monson delivered an address, after which welcoming addresses were delivered by Beaman Strong, Rev. T. C. Mahan and Judge Ingraham of this city. The presiding elders and the licensing committee made their reports.

MAKE DETERMINED EFFORT TO HURRY

CURRENCY WILL GO THROUGH WITHOUT STOP IS DECLARATION.

WITHOUT CHRISTMAS RECESS

Democrats Will Make Party Measure.
Work Night and Day—Say Current Business.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Extreme measures were decided upon today by the democrats of the senate to force the currency reform bill to an early vote. Determined to prevent curtailment of business activities and to relieve the uncertainty in financial circles as to what form currency legislation is taking, the democrats agreed to make the bill a party measure at once, to have no Christmas recess unless the measure has been passed before the time set for the holiday and to sit day and night until final action is secured.

These decisions were reached at a conference which began in the morning and which was resumed tonight. The senate leaders, working in harmony with President Wilson and his advisers, decided to sit behind closed doors for the balance of the week, not excepting tomorrow, Thanksgiving day, until an agreement can be reached upon the pending bill that will insure united support for it in the senate.

The decision of the democrats to make the currency bill a party measure surprised and aroused the republicans.

"This is merely a political move," said Senator Smoot, one of the minority leaders.

It is designed to make it appear that the republicans in the senate are obstructing currency legislation. This is not the case. I am convinced that, proceeding in the normal way, we could have reached a vote earlier than we will under this forced procedure. The democrats who are urging this unwelcome industry will have to keep a quorum present. Legislation that is so important as to keep the senate in session from thirteen to sixteen hours a day ought to be considered by a full quorum.

Two resolutions adopted by the democratic caucus outlined the most exacting legislative program attempted in the senate in recent years. One resolution provided that the senate should meet at 10 o'clock in the morning, sit until 6 in the evening, resume at 7, and continue until 10 o'clock, "until the currency bill is disposed of."

No Holiday Recess.
It further sets forth that unless the bill is out of the way no holiday recess shall be taken, "except an adjournment from December 1 to December 26, over Christmas day. Not even New Year's will be a holiday unless the bill is passed before then."

The second resolution, presented by Senator Reed of Missouri, made the currency bill party measure. It provided that the democrats, in conference, should meet, beginning this afternoon, and by Saturday night should complete the consideration of the bill.

In the absence of Senator Hitchcock, the only democratic member who has held out against the administration bill, it was expected that the democrats of the banking and currency committee would have little difficulty in committing the caucus to the support of the draft of the measure presented by Senator Owen. It was made clear, however, that some of the amendments proposed by Senator Hitchcock would be written into the bill by the conference.

The currency debate continued in the senate today. Senator Newlands of Nevada making a lengthy speech explaining his plan for a federation of state reserve associations as a substitute for the various proposals put forth.

DEATH COMES IN MIDST OF SONG

VOICE OF MISS MOZZELLE RAST,
SINGING INSTRUCTOR, SUDDENLY STILLED.

TRAGIC SCENE IN SCHOOL ROOM

Children Witness Fatal Collapse of Preceptor and Songs of Joy Give Way to Grief and Tears.

The song in the throat of Miss Mozzelle Rast, one of the most accomplished of Waco's public school teachers, was stifled by death yesterday at Gurley school, where she had gone apparently in the bloom of health to direct the school children in their singing of Thanksgiving anthems.

The children were in the midst of the exercises, Miss Rast leading, when the fatal stroke came. The pupils saw their preceptor suddenly go deadly pale and reel toward a chair. As they gathered about her she seemed sinking into unconsciousness and they rushed, frightened and terrified, from the room, to give the alarm. Other teachers ran to the room in which the singing exercises were being held.

Loved Ones Surround Her.
The dying young woman was lifted tenderly and carried to a couch while a physician and members of her family were summoned.

Miss Rast was past medical aid when the physician arrived a few minutes later. She had succumbed to a stroke of apoplexy induced by an attack of acute indigestion. From the first moment of the sudden stroke she never rallied perceptibly.

Tragedy Falls Like a Pall.
The popular teacher's death cast an atmosphere of gloom over the Thanksgiving festivities that had just begun at Gurley school and the children departed for their homes, silent and grieving.

When Miss Rast left her home, 1901 South Eighth street, yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, she was apparently in her usual good health and spirits. At 10 o'clock she assembled her singing class and the exercises incident to Thanksgiving day were in progress when the fatal attack came. It was about 2 o'clock when she died.

Beloved By the Children.
Miss Rast's tragic end brought genuine grief to a host of friends and acquaintances and the children, who were devoted to her, were inconsolable when they heard of her death. The school building for several hours, their beloved preceptor was no more.

Expressions of sorrow and condolence poured in upon her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rast, yesterday afternoon and last evening.

The funeral will take place from the family residence at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Two Aviators Are Burned to Death

Enfurey, France, Nov. 26.—A biplane, supposed to be a military machine, crashed today near Chantemerle, 100 miles from Paris, and burst into flames. An explosion followed and when a rescue of the accident reached the bodies of two aviators, so charred that they were unrecognizable, were found.

Several army buttons were found among the debris.

Unsettled weather today, no material change in temperatures from yesterday and a possibility of showers is the forecast of Dr. I. Block, local volunteer observer, for Thanksgiving Day. His prognostications, the weather man explained, were based upon conditions showing a slowly falling barometer, which indicates this vicinity being near the center of a low barometric pressure.

Local Temperatures.
State of thermometer and barometer yesterday as recorded by Dr. Block: Maximum 70; minimum 58; barometer 30.11; humidity 92. Total wind passage for the twenty-four hours ended at 7 p. m., 60 miles, the highest velocity attained by the wind being 7 miles an hour, between noon and 1 p. m.

REBELS THREATEN TAMPICO TANKS

DEMAND REMOVAL OF GUNBOAT
BRAVO OR THEY WILL FIRE.

WOULD DESTROY THE CITY

Burning Oil Would Float Into the Town and Result Seriously.

Mexico City, Nov. 26.—"Remove the gunboat Bravo or we shall fire on the oil tanks in the city of Tampico and along the banks of the river above."

This threat, according to private information received here today, was sent to the commander of the federal army at Tampico yesterday.

So long as the gunboat at Tampico is aided by the guns of the Bravo, which is anchored in the river off Escamela pier, there appears to be little chance for the rebels to capture and hold the city. But they might easily devastate the entire region by carrying out this threat to smother the tanks and fire the oil, estimated at 100,000 barrels.

Should the oil in the tanks up river be fired, the floating flame would be carried into the heart of the city, most effectively removing the menace offered by the gunboat. Destroy all shipping and probably a fair part of the town.

The rebels will carry out their threat is regarded by some of the officials here as by no means improbable, although foreigners, viewing property in the neighborhood of Tampico as depending on the promises of the rebels not to molest the wells or tanks.

Advances from Tampico and Tampico are meager because the lines of communication are interrupted. Practically the only method of communication is by wireless from the warships to Vera Cruz, from which point the information thus obtained is relayed to the capital.

There is a growing belief that the campaign inaugurated by the rebels against Tampico is directed against Tampico more than against the former port. It is suggested that the rebels have sought to attract attention to their approach upon Tampico so that the advance against Tampico might be overlooked and the government send troops away from Tampico.

Rebels Concentrate at Tamiahua.
The central point of concentration of the rebel forces is at Tamiahua, a town at the head of the lake, about half way between the two ports. Rebels also are moving southward from the neighborhood of Victoria, in the state of Tamaulipas, toward Tampico. At Tampico there are said to be about 800 federal troops supported by the gunboat Bravo. The war department has announced that General Joaquin Maas Jr., who figured largely in the capture of Monterrey, is expected to proceed at an early date for Vera Cruz with reinforcements for Tampico, but as yet he has not started.

There is no prospect of the resumption of traffic over the main line of the National railway. The rebels who have up a train recently at Carmen, south of Saltillo, also destroyed several bridges. Reports have reached here that in the engagement precipitated by the dynamiting the rebels were victorious, the incident developing the fact that between Carmen and Saltillo the rebels were concentrated in force. The federal army, General Valasco, who were dispatched from Saltillo westward to recapture Torreon, have thus been placed in a difficult situation, as communication with the capital has been cut.

Bandits in Morelos.
A serious situation again has developed in Morelos and adjacent states through the reappearance of the bandit forces under Emiliano and Eufemio Zapata. These two chiefs now are at Huastla, Tlaxcala, from the south say they have issued orders for the concentration of their followers in the neighboring hills. For some weeks past there has been a slight lull in their activities. This was due to the rainy season, which made operations difficult, and to the fact that about 1,000 of them had been detailed to gather corn and other crops in the isolated portions of the state of Guerrero. The orders of Zapata's men are said to be to burn every hacienda they pass and inaugurate a campaign of destruction more vicious than ever.

In the Mexican capital the organization representing the European colonies, the members of which have banded together for possible defense, is working quietly and expeditiously. The foreign residents hope to agree upon some locality where they may concentrate, if necessary, and which will be regarded as a neutral zone. Steps have been taken to procure 1,000 head of beef cattle, 100 milk cows, 1,000 sheep and food in sufficient quantities to keep them for several weeks.

Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, sent notification today to all British residents to register at the legation in pursuance of the plan of defense against a possible emergency.

Danish residents who are not represented here diplomatically were likewise invited to enroll. A similar step was taken by the Cuban charge d'affaires.

The chamber of deputies held a five minutes' session today—the time necessary to read and approve the minutes. Adjournment was taken "because there was no other business."

The question of passing upon the recent election of the president and vice president, it was said, will not be taken up for several days.

OIL PROPERTIES ARE IN NO DANGER

ADMIRAL FLETCHER SENDS A WIRELESS REPORT FROM TUXPAM.

EL PASO AMPLY PROTECTED

Likelihood of Another Siege at Juarez
Causes U. S. to Reinforce Troops.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The rout of the Mexican federalists near Juarez by the constitutionalist forces and a wireless report from Rear Admiral Fletcher indicating that conditions in the oil regions near Tuxpam were not as threatening as previously had been reported, held the interest of official Washington today in the Mexican situation.

The wireless message to the navy department from Admiral Fletcher, who left Vera Cruz on the battleship Rhode Island late Monday night with John Lind, the special American envoy, to investigate alleged threatening conditions in the oil districts of Tuxpam and Tampico, brought evident relief to officials here. The admiral's report regarding the Tuxpam field, where British and American interests are situated, gave indications that no immediate aggressive action on the part of the United States to furnish protection would be necessary.

Though no official report has yet come with relation to the Tampico district, the belief here is that the situation there will be found similarly controlled.

The border situation, as a result of the vigorous operations near Juarez and the possibility of another siege of the border city, aroused the war department to action to afford ample protection for El Paso and the neighboring border territory and late today orders were issued for the movement from Fort Douglas, Utah, to El Paso, of the Twentieth United States infantry, which will be used to preserve order within the city limits.

Protection for El Paso.
This arrangement will permit the use of the two regiments of cavalry in the El Paso, Fort Bliss and environs to guard the border in each direction from the city. In addition to these two regiments, the Fifteenth, just arrived from northern posts, and the Second, there is a battery of the Fifth artillery, while Brigadier General Hugh L. Scott, with a squadron of the Twelfth cavalry, will go to El Paso as soon as he has composed the threatened outbreak among the Navajo Indians in New Mexico.

The war department, on the request of the Mexican government, which permit the bringing of wounded Mexican soldiers across the border into El Paso, the permission applying to federal and constitutionalist soldiers alike.

The first soldiers to be received will be the wounded constitutionalists, as they have been already brought into Juarez in considerable numbers.

The federal soldiers, large numbers of whom are reported to be in a pitiable condition further south, will receive equal treatment if any agency is devised to bring them into American territory.

The Red Cross authorities find it easier to care for the wounded Mexicans in American territory than to enter into the negotiations, which will be necessary in order to cross the boundary, and it is also known that facilities for the care of the wounded in Juarez are entirely inadequate.

The Mexican Red and White Cross organizations are organized and officials here say there is no authoritative agency in Mexico through which the American society could work.

May Insist Upon Recognition.
It was suggested tonight that one important result of the rebels' victory at Juarez might be to bring greater prominence the question of recognition by the United States government of General Carranza's constitutionalist party as the de facto government of Northern Mexico. Now General Carranza can claim that this party is in practical physical possession of all the northern states of Mexico, it is expected he will comply with the further requirements of international law by setting up a permanent result of the rebels' victory at Juarez and completing the organization of his provisional government.

This question is said to have been discussed by Dr. Wm. Bayard Hale in his recent conferences with General Carranza and Senator Escudero. It was then rather hypothetical, as the federalists were in great force in the state of

FIELD IS DESERTED

WHERE TEN THOUSAND MEN
FOUGHT ALL IS QUIET.

ADMITTS KILLING VOLUNTEERS

Those Who of Own Accord Went to Federals Are Shot—Clothes Are Taken From Bodies.

El Paso, Nov. 26.—One hundred and eighty-four wounded men are in the Juarez hospitals tonight as a result of the unsuccessful federal attack on Juarez.

Pancho Villa and 6,000 rebel troops are back in Juarez. South of Juarez for eighteen or twenty miles there are no rebel soldiers. Villa says he has some further south and that the city is well guarded against a reappearance of the enemy.

Villa recaptured a number of field pieces and a military train. He said yesterday that he had captured 500 federalists. Today he brought less than 200 to Juarez. He admits executing some of them. Apparently the greatest number of dead as a result of the fighting are those who faced the firing squad and paid the penalty of supporting the Huerta cause rather than that of Villa, Madero or Carranza. A trip over the battlefield today revealed only a few bodies.

Plenty of empty cartridge shells and exploded shrapnel were found on the fields. Two newly made graves were seen near Mesa, where Villa has his headquarters, and two bodies were placed on a train at Mesa late this afternoon by rebel soldiers.

The hands of both the bodies were tied and each evidently had died at the hands of executioners. These were the only dead or evidences of dead men seen.

Claim to Have Buried Dead.
Ample evidence of activity was apparent today in the recent locations of the two armies, but the field was no more littered than would have been the case if any big encampment of men had been made there for two or three days. Rebel soldiers explained that the federal dead had been gathered up and buried and they pointed out beyond the hills.

If there were many federal dead as the result of the battle, other than executions, the rebels carried them a great distance across the country to bury them. On some hills where federal corpses had been planted there were dead horses and many tracks of men, horses and cannon wheels. There also were piles of discharged rifle shells in the trenches, but there were no traces of freshly turned earth that would indicate graves.

In the territory where the rebel lines and fortifications lay the two newly made graves near Mesa were all that appeared to sight.

There were other dead, for rebels with spades came in from remote sections of the field, but the death list is not heavy. The general belief is that most of the men who filled the graves were men who were shot after capture.

Admit Executing Volunteers.
The rebels admitted executing prisoners who had volunteered for service with the federals. The rebel army riding into Juarez today from its victory south of the city exhibited many souvenirs of the conquest. Some of the soldiers wore the blue uniforms of the late federalists, divested of their brass buttons and insignia. Many rebel officers wore capes and coats of federal officers, and one rebel captain wore a new cape of a federal officer.

The rebels admitted removing the uniforms of the men they executed before shooting them, explaining that it was necessary to conserve all wearing apparel.

Nearly all of Villa's fighting men are quartered in Juarez tonight, nobody remaining on the battlefield. An occasional lame horse released by the rebels because of its further uselessness, nibbling at the scant, trampled vegetation is the only sign of life at the point where ten thousand men fought yesterday and the day before.

Marines to Pensacola.
Boston, Nov. 26.—Two hundred marines, 115 from the Charleston, and 85 from the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yards, left here today for Philadelphia where they will board the transport Prairie to Pensacola to await further orders. The men were full field service uniform. The Charleston detachment was commanded by Captain Walter L. Hill. Captain Hughes was in command of the company from Portsmouth.

To Make No Report on the Postmastership at Ennis

Washington, Nov. 26.—Settlement of the Ennis postmastership is no nearer than it has been for the past three months. The postoffice committee of the senate today decided to make no report on the case. This means that another appointment will have to be made at the next session of congress.

Postmaster General Burleson appointed A. H. Bule to the Ennis office regardless of the fact that J. M. Loggins had been chosen by the patrons of the office at a primary called by Congressman Beall. Upon request of Senator Sheppard a special subcommittee was appointed to review the case and it decided that Bule was not entitled to the appointment.

This report was considered by the full committee today with the result that no report to the senate was agreed upon. Whether Burleson will again appoint Bule remains to be seen. This contest has been one of the most stubborn in the many that have occurred in practically every district in Texas.

hand was learned from an authoritative source today. Officers of the local companies, however, declined to discuss the matter.

This action on the part of the federal government is said to be the first time on record that such precautions have been taken. It goes to show that should the word come Uncle Sam will be prepared to act promptly. In some circles it is also taken to mean that the Washington officials believe that intervention is coming and they are simply taking time by the forelock.

Uncle Sam Has National Guard All Ready for War

Dallas, Nov. 26.—That Uncle Sam is preparing for any emergency that may arise in regard to Mexico is evidenced by the fact that commanders of companies of the National Guard of Texas have been furnished blanket transportation for the members of their commands.

It is also said that the government has on deposit in the federal bank of Dallas enough cash to take care of any emergency that might arise in the quick handling of guardsmen should occasion arise. The fact that transportation and money was on

FOYE COMMITTED TO TOMBS*$75 a Month Clerk Whose Forgeries Ran Into Hundreds of Thousands, Is Locked Up.

New York, Nov. 26.—Loss from the alleged forgeries and speculations of James E. Foye, a $75 a month bank clerk, which amount to more than $250,000, will not exceed $12,000, according to a statement issued today by brokers here with whom he had negotiated for a loan on 600 shares of General Electric company stock aside from a certified check for $97,000 and $5,268 in cash found on Foye's person at the time of his arrest. When in several banks here were attached, covering the larger part of the money involved.

When arraigned today Foye was committed to the toms without bail for thirty days on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from the Corn Exchange National bank of Philadelphia. Magistrate Breen said he took this course to allow time for extradition.

The alleged forgeries of signatures to blank certificates of General Electric company began November 1, and were discontinued on or before June 15 when Foye left the employ of the Farmers Loan and Trust company. Officers of the trust company explained today that Foye had access to the vaults where the stationary blank books and stock certificates were stored and that it was easy for clerks to extract such papers as they might wish.

Had Foye been content with smaller gains the bank officers said he might have carried on his alleged speculations for a much longer period by hypotheating a small number of certificates which he had filled out. When so many blank certificate books were missed the investigation that resulted in Foye's arrest followed. It was stated that each certificate bore the signature of the General Electric company and that he merely had to add the signatures of the registrar and transfer officials. Foye appeared to take his arraignment as a matter of course.

He is said to have a wife living in Newark, N. J., though he has been staying for some time at an uptown hotel, where he posed as a man of means.

New York, Nov. 26.—Agents of the department of justice late tonight arrested General Santos Zelaya, former president of Nicaragua, arousing him from his bed in a West End avenue apartment house. The warrant served charges him with murder.

Hearing Arranged.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Apprised of the arrest of former President Zelaya of Nicaragua in New York tonight, his counsel, Corry M. Stadden, promptly arranged with Solicitor Folk of the state department for a hearing tomorrow at the department to demonstrate that the warrant for Zelaya's arrest should be cancelled because the offenses charged against him were political.

Efforts will be made to show that Sixto Pineda, one of the men alleged to have been assassinated by Zelaya, actually was killed by another person. It will also be asserted that Toribio, the second of the men alleged to have been killed by Zelaya, really was shot by the police. In each case it will be asserted that Zelaya knew nothing of the cases until afterward.

In the event the state department declines to cancel the warrant for the provisional detention of Zelaya, efforts will be made to make some arrangement that will enable him to enjoy his liberty pending the arrival from Nicaragua of documents in support of the allegation which are required by treaty.

As the members of the Waco Rotary club disembarked from the parade in the Westbrook hotel they were taken in charge by members of the Fort Worth club and conducted to the basement of the hotel where lunch was served.

President Zurn in the Chair.

President Jacob Zurn of the Fort Worth club presided at the meeting, being seated between President Henry Bell of the Waco club and Col. Honey of the Cleburne club. Mr. Zurn introduced Rev. Loving, who opened the meeting with prayer. John Henderson of Fort Worth gave the visitors welcome and Dr. Loving responded on the part of the visitors. Col. Rice of Waco was a speaker, as was Dr. Rice of Fort Worth and C. G. Sneed of Waco, secretary of the Waco club. Frank Trau of Waco, J. J. Powers of Waco, J. M. Alexander of Cleburne, Judge Padlock of Fort Worth, B. C. Nettles of Waco were also speakers.

TRADE EVANGELS MAROONED*Going Through Interoceanic Canal the Boat Balances on Roof and Sticks.

Palacios, Nov. 26.—The yacht Nicholas, bearing thirteen leading Galveston business men through the interoceanic canal to Corpus Christi, was wrecked on Bird Island reef, six miles from here, about sunrise and the entire party marooned. The incident took place in the dim light before sunrise despite the fact that three experienced interoceanic pilots, Captains Dutchman, Giles and Dunbar, were on the bridge.

Going at some six miles per hour the Nicholas started to hurdle the reef, climbed up until the reef's backbone was on the ship, on the keel and the yacht settled with bow in air and the stern low in the water.

Most of the party were sleeping at the time and were awakened by the impact. A hasty examination showed that no leaks were sprung and the party was apparently in no danger.

Word of the trade evangelists' plight was brought to Palacios in a small boat after a six-mile row by W. H. Crawford and M. O. Frost. The launch Globe of Palacios was sent to the rescue.

Cleburne Man Is Elected President of Retail Secretaries

S. H. Garrison of Abilene and Anthony B. Hillman of Somerville were elected directors.

BEST THING IN ALL TICKLE TOWN*An East Texas Veteran at the Carnival Aims His Opinion of Vitalitas.

(Houston Chronicle.)

"I have been through Tickle Town at your Carnival and the thing that interested me the most was the Vitalitas booth in the 'Made in Houston' show," said an aged East Texas veteran who fought in two wars and who is now free of rheumatism for the first time in years.

"I have been taking Vitalitas for three or four weeks and I wanted to see the substance of it is extracted from and how it is done; I also wanted a sample dose of it, for I did not bring my bottle with me and I feel the need of it. Vitalitas has made me feel young enough again to want to come to the carnival and there are lots of men twenty years younger than I who are not having half as much fun as I am."

Multitudes crowded about the Vitalitas booth and watched the miniature plant in its constant work. No nature product of the age has grown into such tremendous popularity in one year as Vitalitas, for the reason that it is revolutionizing the taking of man-made medicines. It is the only medicine in existence of which it can be truthfully said that nothing is added to nor taken from the way Nature made it. It sweeps from the system all derangements of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and blood. The chances are you need it today.

Chihuahua, Dr. Hale is expected in Washington within a few days.

There was no confirmation here today of a report from Berlin that the American ambassador, James W. Gerard, in discussing the Mexican situation with the German minister of foreign affairs, Gottlieb Von Jagow, had submitted a new cable from Washington reaffirming the attitude of the United States in regard to the elimination of General Huerta and the non-recognition of the new Mexican congress. Acting Secretary of State John Bassett Moore said he had no knowledge of any new note on the subject.

One of Bridesmaids Was From Texas

Dallas, Nov. 26.—Miss Mary G. White, of Baltimore, who was one of the bridesmaids at the Wilson-Sayre wedding at the white house today, was formerly a resident of McKinney, Texas. Miss White, with Miss Eleanor Wilson, a sister of the bride, took a prominent part in the wedding ceremony. She is a sister of Mrs. W. T. Hoard, wife of Dr. Hoard of McKinney. Miss White was a visitor in McKinney last summer and has a large number of friends in that city.

To Inaugurate Parliament.

Rome, Nov. 26.—King Victor-Emmanuel tomorrow for the fifth time in the thirteen years of his reign will inaugurate the Italian parliament. The speech from the throne will announce the continuation of the liberal program, emphasize the significance of universal suffrage and the success attending its first trial and summarizing the progress made by Italy in many fields.

The Italo-Turkish war, resulting in the conquest of Libya, will be instanced as tangible proof of national strength and solidarity and reference will be made to the service rendered by the triple alliance in the maintenance of peace and the solution of problems in connection with the Balkan war.

The granite statue of King Edward VII recently dedicated at Aberdeen is believed to be the first granite statue of a ruler erected since the days of Pharaohs.

What a Liberal Use of Cold Cream Will Do

Keep off tan and freckles.

What? How? Can't be done!

Oh, yes. Simplest thing, you know.

Cold Cream doesn't "tan" or "freckle."

So if the sun's soft kisses fall on a liberal coating of cream instead of on your cheeks or neck, your skin is none the worse.

And if the cream you use as a shield also softens and bleaches your skin—isn't that just what you want?

Nyal's Face Cream is a delightful bleach because it is greaseless.

The skin absorbs it immediately and your complexion is three degrees whiter after the first application.

Put a guard between your skin and the sun.

President Woodrow Wilson has been forced, regretfully, to decline the invitation of the Huaco golf club golfers to play on the local links during the holidays, according to a letter received by President J. W. Hale of the Huaco club. The local players, hearing that the president intended to spend the holidays going in some southern city, recently extended him an invitation to take his recreation here.

TEMPTATION TOO GREAT.*Negro Porter Acknowledges Stealing From Drug Store for Weeks.

Martin, Nov. 26.—Jesse Long, a negro porter employed at the Smith drug store here, was arrested on a charge of theft of merchandise from the drug store, and today he pleaded guilty, telling Judge Hunnicutt that he worked at the drug store one week without taking anything, but that the temptation was too great and for two weeks has been stealing things when opportunity presented. In all the negro acknowledged to stealing about $5 worth of merchandise. A part of the goods were recovered.

Judge Hunnicutt gave the negro six months on the county farm.

Very Suspicious.

Arthur Roberts tells an amusing story about a certain well-known millionaire, famed for his cautious habits, who was once called upon by two gentlemen who tried to interest him in a certain theatrical scheme of theirs.

"They talked," said the comedian, "to the great financier for about an hour; then they took their leave, having been told that his decision would be forwarded to them in a few days."

"I believe we've got him," said the first, hopefully, as they left the office. "I don't know," rejoined the other; "he seems very suspicious."

"Suspicious?" said the first. "What makes you think he was suspicious?" "I did you notice," was the reply. "How he counted his fingers after we had shaken hands with him?"

What She Was.

Several villagers were discussing a departed sister, who had been given to good deeds, but was rather too fond of dispensing sharp-tongued advice.

"She was an excellent lady," said the deceased lady's pastor. "She was constantly in the homes of the poor and afflicted. In fact, she was the salt of the earth."

"She was more than that," remarked a villager. "She was the vinegar, the pepper and the mustard as well. She was a perfect crust stand of virtues."

Thanksgiving*Why All Waco Should Be Thankful

Because that handful of brave men who located our good and beautiful city chose wisely in selecting this glorious and healthful spot for their homes, destined by nature to be the greatest city in Texas; because we have many solid commercial enterprises fostered by good and sound-minded business men; because we have banks as strong as the Rock of Gibraltar; because we have our GRAND COTTON PALACE, beyond doubt the most unique exposition in the South; because we have a municipal administration second to none in the world; because we have the best public schools to be found anywhere; because we have an unlimited supply of pure artesian water; because we have our GREAT BAYLOR UNIVERSITY, ranking pre-eminently among the greatest universities of the country; because we have our Young Men's Business League; and, finally, because the day is near when the Brazos river will be navigable and Waco will take its place among the large seaport cities of the United States. We, personally, are thankful for all the above and the kind patronage of our friends, and because we are exclusive distributors for the City of Waco for the GREAT EL SIELO CIGARS, and especially the EL SIELO SMOKERS, which sell for five cents everywhere.

While the inquiry is being primarily conducted with an eye toward the activities of the "dough-bagmen" who scoured the State and mulcted the contractors of huge sums in the shape of campaign contributions, the testimony has thrown many interesting side lights upon interlocking phases of corruption.

SEND 63 BIG CAKES.

Marlin Baptists Remember Buckner Orphans' Home.

Marlin, Nov. 26.—Following the custom practiced for years, the ladies of the Marlin Baptist church on Tuesday afternoon forwarded by express sixty-three large cakes to the Buckner Orphan's home at Dallas. These cakes from Marlin's contribution toward the Thanksgiving dinner for the 600 inmates of the home.

It is customary for the aid societies of the various towns and cities to supply one thing for the dinner and for many years Marlin has been furnishing the cakes. Each year at this time a large shipment is made. This year the cakes seemed larger and better than ever and yet the ladies were not quite satisfied with the gift and included a cash donation of $12.50.

Only a short time ago the Marlin ladies prepared a box of clothing valued at $122 and forwarded it to the home. Their Christmas gift to the home will be $160 in cash. Most of this sum is already pledged.

The accustomed Friday afternoon story hour will be held at the library. This will be at four o'clock. Owing to the absence from the city of Miss Lota Pharr, Miss Carrie Wemyss has kindly consented to tell the story.

THE SANS SOUCIS MEET

WITH MRS. J. W. BARNETT
While details are meager, the bi-weekly sessions have lost none of their congenial hours. The meagerness lies in the fact that the members have voted that this season shall fall back into the simple club life, and that the afternoons shall find nothing except the fancy work box, small talk and the refreshment plate. Mrs. J. W. Barnett was the last hostess. She had with her other than the club the Mesdames Thomas McCullough and Hunter Stiles.

DR. AND MRS. S. P. BROOKS

THE MISSES HIRSCHBERG

PAY BRIDGE COMPLIMENT
With the Misses Hirschberg hostess, a game of bridge formed as a matinee diversion. The players were the visitors in the homes of friends, together with these friends, the season's debutantes, together with the bride-to-be. In all, a very agreeable company was formed; also, a very interesting game was played. The favors fell to Mrs. Edward Silvers and to Miss Elsie Simmons. The bridge games have not been any too frequent this season, hence the Misses Hirschberg scored a social success in their happy inspiration.

MRS. FITZHUGH LEADER

FOR THE EMERSON CLUB
For its regular meeting, the Emerson club found its leader in Mrs. E. E. Fitzhugh, who was also the club hostess. The study just now is Thackeray's Newcomes. Filled as this is with reference to great pieces of art, and fresh as Mrs. Fitzhugh is with pictures and personal impressions from the galleries where these pieces hung, it was a treat to the members to spend their hour in an art talk, and in viewing the pictures. The club, as usual, responds to the call of the City Federation for the empty stockings and in the sale of the Red Cross stamps. The attendance was good.

MISS JOSEPHINE ROSE

HAD BRIDGE JUNIORS
At the Kyle, Miss Josephine Rose was hostess for the last game of the Bridge Juniors. She presented as one of her prizes a piece of hand embroidery which she brought from one of the shops in Europe. It was won by Miss Enrie Smith. The other game, a favor, a pair of fancy buckles, fell to Miss Gertrude Wilson. Miss Virginia Rose was assistant hostess. Those who formed the game are, the Misses Smith, Wilson, Josephine Rose, Sherman, of Westwood, Lucile Hill, Ball of Kansas, Marian Duncan, Vivian Mayfield, Clara Knight, Jimmie Higgins, Frances Van Hodge, Nancy Lucy, Lucile Woodall of Temple.

MRS. J. M. McCUTCHEAN

ENTERTAINS CARD CLUB
The Young Married Ladies' Bridge club had a very pleasant game with Mrs. J. M. McCutcheon in her apartments at the Virginia. It was won by Mrs. Lillian Westwood. Ida Orand, Dixon Holloway, Lucile Hill, Ball of Kansas, Marian Duncan, Vivian Mayfield, Clara Knight, Jimmie Higgins, Frances Van Hodge, Nancy Lucy, Lucile Woodall of Temple.

MR. AND MRS. PIO CRESPI

FOR MRS. FULLENWIDER
Among the many delightful evenings which have been visited to Mrs. Nelson Smith from Mrs. Fullenwider was the dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Pio Crespi. In this, Mrs. Crespi arranged a beautiful table, using all through her decorations the pink and the blue. The idea of the season, a Thanksgiving season, in one of the plate favors, Mrs. Crespi has the charm of affability, and Mrs. Fullenwider the happy manner of adapting herself to all companies. It was a most enjoyable evening. The beautiful affair, Tango dancing came as the close. In this courtesy, Mr. and Mrs. Crespi entertained Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Smith, H. H. Shear, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Williamson, Mrs. William Brewster, Mrs. Mrs. Edwin Carroll and Mr. Holderman.

MRS. W. N. LAZENBY HOSTESS

FOR CIRCLE NUMBER THREE
In opening her home for the cozy tea of Tuesday, Mrs. W. N. Lazenby was hostess with other members of her circle from the Aid society of the Central Presbyterian church. The occasion gave pleasure as well as financial returns. The rooms of the lower floor were all very attractively decorated, the choicest blossoms being reserved for the tea tables where Mrs. Joseph Wren poured chocolate and Mrs. A. M. Skinner the tea. Several of the guests rendered an informal concert during the receiving hours. The circle is gratified over every phase of the success in their afternoon. Those who contributed the music are Miss Stella Lacy with the Mesdames Carroll, Miller, Hall, Wright, Wren and Gardner.

BABIES FROM CRADLE ROLL

WITH MRS. MORRIS FALKNER
One of the first of the Thanksgiving observances came with Mrs. Morris Falkner, who gave an altogether unique party to the babies of the cradle roll in the Sunday school of the First Baptist church. Mrs. Falkner takes great interest in her little folks, and invited all the mothers to enjoy the sight. One or two features gave some of the formal to the afternoon. Mrs. E. A. White, supervisor of the primary department, Mrs. Falkner for the tiny babes, made a few remarks. Miss Lucile Gooch gave demonstration of kindergarten class, which is her work. Mrs. B. B. McReynolds gave music. The surprise feature came in the appearance of the Thanksgiving farm wagon loaded with turkeys, tiny tows, for each little one. Miss Alice Nash, as driver, held the reins to Miss Eugenia Nash and Boone Kendall McReynolds. After each had received the gift, ribbon tied sacks of animal crackers were offered the wee babes. So unique was this catering and so attractive the sight, a flash light picture of the group was caught.

The first cotillion figure will bring these forward. In addition, the debutante visitors will receive special courtesy. Those of Waco are, the Misses Frances V. Gorman, Lucretia Crawford of Chicago, Celia Moore, Alice Brazelton, Josephine Foscue, Mildred Smith, Marian Duncan, Lucile Hill, Beuna Clinton, Sallie Thompson, Elizabeth Patton, Beatrice Westmont, Vivian Mayfield, Mary Carter, with the Misses Lucy Keese of Marlin, Kathleen Timolat of San Antonio, Esther Cornwall of New York, and Helen Ball of Kansas.

A BIRTHDAY GATHERING

IN DOWNSVILLE SOCIETY
At their country home, on the Downsville road, Mrs. E. J. Webb honored the birthdays of the Misses Lora Arnold and Pearl Webb. The season was given accent by means of autumn decorations, trailing vines and roses cut fresh from the home garden. All the company rooms were elaborately decorated with this foliage. Forty-two and huncore were the games indulged. The punch bowl was the center of the group later, and around this birthday good wishes were extended. The guests of this very pleasant occasion were: Misses Arnold, Pearl Webb, Ethel Arnold, Edna Crunk, Gladys Alene Overstreet, Sadie Webb, C. E. Arnold, Webb, M. C. C. Halmers, J. Moore, H. Gibson, Thomas Spencer, Eugene Steiner, Arthur King, Dave Hooks, Bentley Hooks, C. B. Webb and Chester Webb; Mesdames C. B. Webb and Ida Webb.

THE REVIEW CLUB MEETS

WITH MRS. F. L. CHRISTMAN
In their last session the members of the Review club paid patronage to the near approach of Thanksgiving tide. The paper in review of the origin and the observance of this American holiday was read by Mrs. Boone Crow. Mrs. W. H. Forrester gave a reading which extracted some of the most pleasing verses from Whittier's "Snow Bound." Mrs. Christman used a variety of slides to attract the national stars of Star Spangled Banner and America, while a third gave Dixie as signal for the refreshment room. The club transacted some business, agreed to do a part towards filling the empty stockings, also made an apportionment from the newboys' piano. On the refreshment table appeared the Thanksgiving turkey in toy design, while above was the folds of the national flag. More than the usual number of members was present.

MR. AND MRS. SLEEPER

FOR MISS ERMINE HALBERT
As the ante nuptial courtesy to their niece, Miss Ermine Halbert, also to her fiancé, Theodore Ray, Judge and Mrs. William Slinger dined a party of friends at the Huaco club. The first guests named were those of Miss Halbert's house party, the Misses Jennie Thornton of Dallas, Yantis of Brownwood, Gullidge of McGregor, and Beasie Byrd Burison. Also, there included the Misses Lillian and Olive Halbert, Elizabeth Patton and Anne Risher. As escorts were Dr. O. I. Halbert, Dr. Loughbridge of California, Scribner, Malcolm Lindsey, Davis Scribner, Green Patterson, William Craig and Dr. Eastland. Mrs. Slinger told some very pretty touches to her table in suggestion of the cause for its being wrought into the pretty picture that it was. The talent of Miss Lillian Halbert added clever little wedding favors into the place card figures. On these were penned some quite pertinent love sentiments. The color tone gave the pink and the white prestige, in flower, candle cap, and card strokes. This was quite a merry gathering, and the welcome to her old place was proved of especial value.

THE PRESS CLUB MEETS

WITH MRS. THWING
In the home of Mrs. Compton, out on West Austin, Mrs. Thwing was hostess to the Press club in its regular session. This was an occasion which found six special guests, the Mesdames T. D. Hays, Moore Hays, F. N. Calvin, Temple Morrow, Costard and Seifer. Also, the welcome to her old place was accorded Miss Decca Lamar West. The attendance was unusually large, and one of the absent members, Mrs. Isadore Block, was remembered. Mrs. Block is detained in a sanitarium at Denver, and the club showed its kind thought of her absence by sending a post card shower. The women of the Phillo continue the study, papers being given at this session by the Mesdames M. B. Davis, D. L. Davis and King. The roll call round table proved of especial interest. Mrs. Susan Thornton Price was the leader. She opened with an original poem upon the assigned subject, Faith. She then brought out the ideas and the practical application of faith from all the speakers. Mrs. J. J. Lennex added a bit of humor in reading a poem on Noah. Mrs. Moore Hays added the musical feature of the afternoon. At the close all joined in the singing of America, as the Thanksgiving flavor to an unusually pleasant session. Mrs. Thwing served refreshments.

Society Notes.

"Chic, small headgear in the afternoon," says one of the late fashion notes.

Mrs. W. S. Gillespie with the Misses Gillespie have returned from Canada. They remain guests in the Gardner home for a few weeks, and then leave for an extended sojourn in California. Among expected visitors is Mrs. Laurie Brown from Arizona, who will make a prolonged visit to her mother, Mrs. Ed Thompson on Washington street. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are leaving globe-trotting. Their new home is not yet located.

It is a matter of pleasurable note that Miss Margaret Sleeper is delighted with her school in Staunton, Virginia. It would seem that the school is delighted with Miss Sleeper, since she was one of the preferred pianists for a public program.

We must be careful as hostess to our club not to make too elaborate preparations. While we may have the desire to pay this compliment, yet, we must bear in mind that perhaps some members are not situated so that they can follow the president. Club life must carry the lesson of thought for others.

Thanksgiving over, it is then attention to Christmas; first of all the pretty holiday novelties in the shops. Is it not a shame that a full mail bag with all its promise of interest should turn out a bundle of advertising matter? We must grin and endure during this holiday plethora of the shop and what it contains.

On next Tuesday Mrs. W. M. Foster will be hostess to the Cranfords. It is a mistaken idea that because a woman has entertained you, you must be restless until the obligation is repaid. To be entertained today and to return the courtesy tomorrow is paying the first debt. Just where she began. No, the social indebtedness is there, but it should be cancelled in such a delicate way that it does not seem forced. The next day, the next week, perhaps not at your next party, is the time to wait until the time is appropriate and your company will be congenial.

It is certainly the mistaken idea that you are not to print the names of your guests. Whoever started such an idea we can not conceive. The society column prints the social news in detail just as the local column or any other department of a paper.

Really, we take to the idea of sending your chauffeur or coachman with holiday gifts, clad in a chauffeur's green coat with crimson neck tie. It imparts the holiday feeling to the very curbstone.

If advance notes tell the story, we will see our Christmas packages in green paper this season. But we will not take kindly to it, for green can never carry the pleasing impression to the eye which the white tissue with the delicate ribbon does.

If the clubs, the Huaco, the Phillo and the Progress are to start promptly in this season's gayety, is it not a timely thing for the girls who receive this hospitality to send some holiday piece which will add to the "home" look of the club? Once upon a time the Philo girls gave the Phillo club a couch cushion shower.

So the bride of the white house wore a wedding robe with square hemmed train. Would to the fashion world that she had some one let this supplant the funny little excursions which now appear where once the graceful train was.

Just for the fun of counting, the lookers at the Phillo club tonight will see many different styles of ornaments appear. By the way, nothing adds so much to the fetchiness of the entire toilet as does one of the jaunty little head pieces. But be careful, girls, that you wear something becoming.

The continued absence of Mrs. Joel Westbrook in San Angelo and Mrs. Ed Sturges in California is remarked with regret as the gay season opens. Are the club women punctilious about letting their hostess know if they are not to be at the club? This is imperative in clubs where refreshments are served.

Despite the argument to the opposite side, it is the proper thing to refrain from any display of attention to a general at home. The hostess who is up in the art of entertaining, also the caterer, always provides for a shrinkage of one-fifth the invitation show approach for a dinner invitation. Where the hostess does not effect provision, where the caterer does not, the hostess is at fault. With a card game, a dinner or any entertainment where the individual is included in the arrangement, nothing excuses the answering of the invitation. Where the hostess is involved, it is burdensome upon the part of the hostess to receive such a mail bag. But, bear this in mind: No well bred woman, who can not attend a large at home, will neglect to show appreciation for an invitation, by not sending her visiting card, in envelope, to the home during the reception. She makes no formal response in case she attends. Her card in the basket shows this. But in case of absence, a card of acknowledgment is imperative.

SAY TEMPLE LADY

She Has Found New Health In Plant Juice and Advises Others to Try It.

The following is a statement from Mrs. A. Wilson, residing at 602 East Austin, who has found a new health in Plant Juice, the vegetable remedy: "For fifteen years I have suffered with rheumatism, indigestion, and kidney trouble. This is a long time for me to be ill and have a stomach so badly deranged that it was hard to get enough nourishment to sustain life. Nothing I ate seemed to agree with me. I had severe nervous attacks caused by my kidney troubles and the rheumatism caused me great suffering. Since I have started taking Plant Juice I have not only been free from nervous attacks, but scarcely know that I have nerves. My rheumatism is relieved and stomach troubles have left me. I feel that I want without bad after effects, have no indigestion or other troubles. Plant Juice is the only remedy for me. I think it is the greatest preparation ever made for suffering humanity and I am glad to recommend it to all who will waste no more time, but give it a trial."

Take the advice of Mrs. Wilson and get a bottle of Plant Juice today and give it a trial; you will find that it is the only remedy for you. Nothing you have ever tried before. For sale at the Old Corner Drug Store.

With their hall a leafy labyrinth of vine-covered columns amid which more than 300 dancers in brilliant evening dress threaded the latest steps in waltzes, two-steps, one-steps and tangos, the Progress club opened its season last night with a ball which lasted till 3 o'clock.

At 12:30 the dance music ceased and tables were set on which a four-course supper was served. Champagne punch was served throughout the evening.

There were approximately 50 couples in the grand march. The entertainment committee, to whom credit is due for the success of the evening, consisted of Sam Strauss, Jared C. Simmons and Isadore Meyer. Tip officers of the club are J. W. Sanger, president; L. Lipshitz, first vice president; C. L. Sanger, second vice president; Dan Wise, treasurer, and Isadore Meyer, secretary.

Exhibits Attract Attention.
Austin, Nov. 26.—Unprecedented success marked the exhibit of the department of Texas, which has been on display during the past six weeks at four of the largest fairs in the state. The fairs to which exhibits were carried by the Brownwood Free Fall Fair, lasting three days; the Dallas State fair, lasting sixteen days; the Waco Cotton Palace, sixteen days, and the Southeast Texas Fair, eight days.

At each place the exhibit was attractively arranged in booths according to subject matter. Explanations of the various displays were given when necessary by those who accompanied the exhibit.

The lectures of Miss Jessie Rich of the home welfare division were well attended. Miss Rich has the confidence of the women wherever she is known, and she is without a superior in organizing and directing the work in which she is engaged.

Two important features characterize this year's exhibit, the large number of people who saw it, and the careful study and intense interest which many individuals took in the data presented. It is conservatively estimated that approximately 100,000 people, representing practically all occupations, observed and studied to some extent the contents of the exhibit. The fact that many individuals copied much of the data for reference is self-explanatory as to the interest manifested. The part contributed by the medical department of the university at Galveston was unique and attractive, giving wholesome lessons upon the question of health and sanitation.

Frank B. Carter Arrested.
Coleman, Tex., Nov. 26.—Constable W. O. Purcell has returned from Sherman, having in custody Frank B. Carter, who is wanted on an alleged charge of forgery, said to have been committed here in 1906, in which the First National bank of this place cashed a fraudulent note.

Carter was indicted and released in bonds of $500 at the time, but afterwards disappeared and was finally located in Fannin county several days ago and finally apprehended in Sherman.

GLENN-MARSHALL NUPTIALS

The Daily Hint from Paris.

Wedding Ceremony to Be Performed by Rev. J. N. Marshall, the Father of the Bride.

The marriage of Miss Monta Marshall and Thomas R. Glenn will be solemnized at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, 1314 Speight street.

Immediately after the ceremony they will leave for a short trip to points in South Texas.

The ceremony will be performed by the bride's father, Rev. J. N. Marshall, who has long been prominent in the evangelical work of the Baptist church, and who has served as a member of the Baptist educational board of Texas and also as a member of the endorsement committee of Baylor university.

The bride attended Baylor and is very popular.

Mr. Glenn is manager of the fourth floor at the Goldstein-Migel company. He has been connected with the Goldstein-Migel store for eight years, and in accordance with the store's "marriage dowry" offer to its employees, Mr. Glenn receives a check for $75 from the firm.

The employee of the store presented Mr. Glenn and his bride-to-be with a handsome chest of silver, in token of the good will which has grown up during their years of association with him.

PLEA FOR PENSIONS.

Miss Gannett Cites Needs of Aid to Families.

New York, Nov. 26.—Cases in which the younger daughters of poverty stricken families were forced into lives of immorality when funds were most needed, were described by Miss Alice Gannett of the Nurses Settlement Home of this city today. She was a witness before the state commission which is investigating conditions with a view to deciding whether a pension system for widowed mothers shall be established. She favored state aid with state administration of funds.

Others who testified were equally emphatic in asserting that the state should supply and administer relief. Several witnesses opposed the plan. H. P. Vaughn of the University Settlement House and the National Child Labor Committee, said that under the present system of giving aid many families apply to more than one organization for help and become dependent upon such aid.

W. F. Persons, director of the charities organization society, opposed the idea of the state entering the charity giving field, but said that if a mother pension were established the state and not private organizations should administer the funds.

No Quorum Prevents
the Confirmation

Washington, Nov. 26.—Lack of a quorum in the senate prevented confirmation today of the appointment of L. E. Pinkham as governor of the territory of Hawaii.

At the end of a spirited fight against Pinkham, led by Senator Williams of Mississippi, a vote was in his favor 21 to 17. This was not a quorum of the senate, however, and the appointment went over for action later. Many democrats voted against confirmation while the majority of the republicans voted for it.

The nomination of Henry M. Findell of Peoria, Ill., as ambassador to Russia, was sent to a sub-committee today by the senate foreign relations committee.

WACO HAS MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR.

"Of course, the assumption underlying Thanksgiving Day is that there is a God, a giver of every good and perfect gift. If there is not, there can be no point in the observance of the day. Certain conclusions flow from that assumption that may be worthy of consideration. Each year we are reminded that we have this or that thing to be, as we say, thankful for." The good people of Waco believe, they do not assume, that there is a God, a giver of every good and perfect gift. For those blessings that have come to each family in the year past, the family today should give thanks to the Almighty. For those blessings peculiar to this community, signaling its advancement, its progress of a year, the betterment of the welfare of all, all the community today should give thanks. And all the community may today give thanks for rather more than is implied by the spirit of the holiday and the spirit of its origin. Thanks may be given for definite community blessings that have accrued in the twelvemonth.

On this Thanksgiving Day we, too, are reminded that we have this or that thing to be, as we say, thankful for. For we are reminded that a year ago, on this holiday, our hope expressed was that there might spread in Waco a broader spirit in behalf of civic progress and for a more enlightened civic pride; that all should come to be grateful for the privilege of dwelling in a community that all, by honest, unselfish effort, would make wholly kind, neighborly and sensible; that our citizenship should continue to be blessed with a respect for and determination to obey the law that governs the business and the moral relations of men; that we in Waco might evolve more helpful ideas and plans to make our city prosper and grow great; that the citizenship would know no narrowness and utter no needless depreciation in coming to realize the necessity for public cooperation in the making of public plans and the giving of public events; that the city government, the schools, the university here, the churches and their clerical leaders, the press, the commercial organizations, the women's clubs, the public utility corporations, the public amusement places, the splendid Texas Cotton Palace, the unions of labor, might be blessed with a year of better, brighter, bigger success—a year of substantial increase in usefulness and strength.

These desirable blessings and durable satisfactions of community life were of the hope we wrote of a year since. Many of these, much of our hope for the city, have been realized and there is veritable prospect that Waco is going on to the attainment of all these blessings. Surely among our people today there is cause enough for sincere thanksgiving.

Even without Colonel Goethals' report, Americans have concluded that the government force in Panama really did some work.

The Pullman Porters Association and the New York Bellboys Union are yet to be heard from on the income tax.

May we have a victory of Notre Universite over Notre Dame to be thankful for?

Get a Traffic Ordinance and Enforce It

The suggestion that drivers of motor vehicles be given more latitude in the matter of speed rate in the residence districts than they are allowed in the business district, did not originate—publicly, at least—with the delegation of motorists that conferred Tuesday with the city commission, nor did it originate in city hall.

This suggestion was offered by the Morning News months ago and has been reiterated frequently in these columns.

The Morning News has often pointed out the uselessness of maintaining a police speed trap and "spotters" in the less-traveled and light traffic parts of the city even as it has been insistent that fast driving and reckless driving and selfish ignoring of the regulations in the business district, be stopped.

The danger is hardly in the west of the city on the main-traveled, well-paved streets. Fifteen or even twenty miles an hour in these neighborhoods for the driver who knows his car, who knows how to operate, who knows what to do in an emergency and who is good citizen enough to be careful how he crosses street intersections, may not be considered an unsafe maximum of speed.

But in the business district (to repeat) ten miles an hour under certain conditions of traffic and travel would itself be reckless driving. Reckless driving is that manner of driving that makes "going ahead" as fast as the driver may desire the first consideration; it is that manner of driving that refuses to consider the safety of pedestrians and of other vehicles and insists that they "must look out for themselves."

The Morning News urges that the city government put a stop to the driving of cars by children and by all other persons who cannot show they are competent to control a motor vehicle under every condition of street traffic and travel.

Therefore, the Morning News must urge the commission, if it ordains new regulations for traffic, to require every driver of a motor vehicle to obtain a license, paying a nominal fee therefor, and to make the issuance of this license conditional on the passing of a test of ability to operate the vehicle.

The suggestion that an age limit regulation for drivers is "unconstitutional" is, in the opinion of the Morning News, utterly absurd.

Such a suggestion either ignores, or fails to comprehend, the highway commission statutes of a dozen of the oldest and best jurisdictions in the Union.

Such a suggestion fails to take into account the traffic ordinances of the largest and best-policed cities in the land.

As a matter of "public policy," the inhibition of minors from entering saloons and public pool halls is in the police codes of cities and in the penal codes of States.

As a matter of "public policy," equally—with respect to the right of governments to legislate for the public safety—cities legally may forbid that which would be a hazard for the public, that which jeopardizes the safety of the public—and the operating of motor vehicles on the public streets by children or by any others who cannot operate safely and capably, is such a hazard and does put the public in jeopardy.

If governments can keep minors out of saloons and pool halls, it can keep minors from driving motor cars to the possible detriment of the people. One is as much "discrimination" as the other.

The important point is not the rate of speed fixed by ordinance for any part of the city.

Reckless driving is the main point. And in legislating against reckless driving the commission should provide all possible deterrents—among which an age limit for drivers and a test of ability to drive are essentials.

Again, the rate of speed is not the important thing. Ten miles an hour might be a reckless rate under some circumstances, twenty miles might not be a reckless rate under other circumstances, the condition of the street and surroundings as to traffic and travel considered.

Frankly, the Morning News would raise no objection were the commission to set a "reasonable" rate of speed at all, in any part of the city—but as is the case in New York, for instance—write into the ordinance the requirement that drivers operate their own cars at a "reasonable" rate of speed under the circumstances.

Of course, that would put the burden of protection of the public on the police, insofar as holding motorists down to a "reasonable" rate of speed in view of conditions on the street at a particular time and in each specific instance, is concerned, except to the extent that every driver shall be held strictly accountable for his own driving. Of course, that would call for intelligent police; it would call for police who would forsake the comfort of leaning against telegraph poles and the walls of buildings, and get out into the streets whenever a person appeared to be driving his car in a manner to endanger the safety of others.

But this newspaper is not quite ready or willing to believe that an intelligent, duty-performing police force is out of the question for Waco.

The form of the traffic ordinance is not the first consideration. The first consideration is that any ordinance that may be adopted shall be earnestly and honestly enforced.

The present ordinance has not been, and is not being, enforced.

The police appear to be timid when it comes to telling some owners of motor cars, who operate the cars, the way they shall go.

Reckless driving must be stopped. There must be some regulation. The number of serious accidents due to recklessness to disregard of ordinances and to selfish practices is rapidly increasing in this and every other city whose police are not kept "up to the scratch" in the matter of law enforcement. A driver who persists in recklessness should lose his license—should be kept off the streets as a driver.

Further: The suggestion locally that pedestrians are well-nigh as much to blame for these accidents as are the drivers of motor vehicles, also originated with the Morning News.

There has been the demand in these columns that a traffic ordinance—any ordinance that may be adopted—require pedestrians to cross the streets only at the intersections and require them to stop the self-endangering practice, in the business district, of crossing streets diagonally.

Let the commission pass an ordinance that will be reasonable, equitable, applicable alike to vehicles and pedestrians with due consideration for their rights and their safety.

Above all, let the commission insist that the police enforce fairly, impartially and thoroughly any ordinance that is passed.

The members of the automobile club are taking the right attitude. Some of their suggestions to the commission are admirable and should be incorporated in the new regulations.

The commission should not be at a loss as to what to do. It has hundreds of first-class traffic ordinances to choose from and copy. Regulations that have proved thoroughly successful in other cities, when rightly enforced by highway commissions, police and peace officers generally, would not be an "experiment" for Waco.

This is not a three-legged calf of a city. It has no peculiarities that call for peculiar laws. And this dilemma of the commission with respect to traffic regulations does not do credit to its highly developed intelligence.

Get a decent traffic ordinance and see that it is enforced against everybody, gentlemen of the commission.

Texas Viewpoints.

An Amiable Anniversary.
"During the four years life of this paper it has not pleased everybody."

Gause Guide begins, stressing a fact in the course of every publication. "It has fearlessly advocated what its editor knew to be right, without waiting to obtain the consent or approval of somebody else. The friends of the paper love it for the good it is trying to do; its enemies respect it, and know in their hearts that it has been right all the time." Lovely! It would seem that the Guide, by this token, has attained to the very Utopia in newspaperdom. Its friends love the paper, its enemies respect the paper and know in their hearts the paper is always right! How many editors can say as much—or even half as much—truly of the status of their journals?

Eagle Pass News-Guide, very much on the serious spot, notes that "Senator Morris Sheppard has sent his personal congratulations to Carranza and wished him 'good luck.' Is Morris," grumbles the border brother, "trying to break into the Henry Lane Wilson class? It would look better for Morris to wait until this government makes known its policy." Perhaps—but even the soberest senator sometimes tires of waiting.

Houston's Symphony Orchestra.
"Thanks to the efforts of a few patriotic men and women who have the best interests of this community at heart, Houston is to be blessed with a real symphony orchestra of its own, and that within the near future," tributes and relates the B. B. Chronicle.

Remembering the make-up of Houston's populace and believing that William Congreve knew what he was talking about when he told what music hath charms to do, we conclude that "blessed" is a well-chosen word in this connection. May we suggest that a few season passes be handed out to Houston's gun-bearing bullies?

Discomfiting, Useless Information.
What good does Coleman Democrat Voice expect to work by rubbing this in?: "Probably you had never thought about it in this manner, but every time you breathe somebody dies." Well, if that's so, what can we and the D-V do about it? The trouble with that scientific squib is that some poor, deluded person, reading it, might make it out to be a case of cause and effect, stop breathing and unnecessarily increase the State's death rate. Why make us feel badly over things we can't prevent?

Locally Pertinent.

A thoughtful gentleman of San Antonio delights to commend the Express for an editorial on the "vice of overeating." He writes wittily that he has been a dyspeptic ever since Adam retired from the apple business, as nearly as he can get at it; and having hung onto the willows, as he has done, according to the family Bible record, and still being in evidence, for over three score years and ten, he feels he knows what he is expatiating about when he tackles the subject of abdominal psychology. His letter is worth reading and holds a little cluster of chuckles. He's a San Antonian, however—and who ever knew a San Antonian to lay on any local condition the blame for anything that is not as it should be? Therefore he does not "come clean" with the real cause of his dyspepsia; does not relate how long and how often he has made himself the depository for c.e. and L.V.I.L. other varieties of Mexican mess, light, nourishing, nutritious and easily digested as it is—not. It is said not three in thirty veritable San Antonians who lead the diet San Antonio expects them to lead, escape dyspepsia. It would be well if the Express's advice were locally read and remembered, not read and relegated.

Mr. Taylor's Inevitable Tautology.

"Journalistic husbands," writes Barry Press, apropos the Crawford-Barry Fort Worth Star-Telegram happening, "are not the richest, nor mayhap the handsomest or the saintliest, but they are kind, they are considerate, they are liberal in money matters and not harsh in judgments. In consequence whereof, most of them are henpecked and happy." The title above this excerpt is comment enough, but we might blueprint to the extent that S. P.'s stated condition implies his consequence, and vice versa.

Waco and The News.

We Are No Theosophist.

The Waco News says: "Swaying back and forth made Miss Margaret Adams the most perfect girl—and the blue ribbon for comment on this report goes to the Washington Post, at our hands, its observation being that by the same token Wene Foss ought to be the Apollo Belvidere of Massachusetts." According to the Theosophists, does not physical swaying deform the astral body?—Houston Chronicle.

The Good Work Will Go On.

Editor Fitzgerald of the Fort Worth Herald writes in the wonders that Waco's Cotton Palace on Press day of its entire section. Let the good work continue.—Greenville Banner.

The Safer Way.

The electric railway is claimed to be safer than the steam rail in that there are fewer disastrous wrecks on the former. Because of this there is favorable mention of the electric developments and unfavorable criticism of the steam lines. The Waco Morning News speaks of this.

The electric lines are broadening their fields every year and the results attained in many ways encourages the belief that in a very few years they will cover the whole country.—Greenville Banner.

Waco Morning News says that a single reading of this "colym" will verify our statement that "there is a great discrepancy between story and fact." There is the discrepancy; this reason we are not cast down on account of the remarks of the News man, but if we knew where Waco is we'd go there and lick him, just for the exercise.—Claude Callan, in Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The Suspended Sentence "Theory."
Judge Richard L. Munroe of Waco declared from the bench that the suspended sentence law is a farce. Judge Richard L. Munroe is mistaken. It is not a farce. It is a fact of mercy, this reason we are not cast down on account of the remarks of the News man, but if we knew where Waco is we'd go there and lick him, just for the exercise.—Claude Callan, in Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

It Inspires Optimism.
The persons against whom the Roehmer bill was aimed are illiterate and cannot mark their own ballots and they have never had opportunity to learn to read and write, either in Mexico or in Texas—they are adults, and compulsory education has never been ordered in these regions. The politicians are afraid of those who would keep their children in the field, factory and shop.—Waco Morning News.

There is something to think about in the above. The people of Texas are rapidly coming to the point where they are going to demand and secure when the ignorant are handled as merchandise and voted to perpetuate a "boss" in office. It is one of the signs of the times that makes us think well of the future.—Palestine Herald.

It is one thing to make soda crackers that are occasionally good.

It is quite another thing to make them so that they are always better than all other soda crackers, always of unvarying goodness.

The name "Uneeda"—stamped on every biscuit—means that if a million packages of Uneeda Biscuit were placed before you, you could choose any one of them, confident that every soda cracker in that package would be as good as the best Uneeda Biscuit ever baked. Five cents.

ALLEGED MOVING PICTURE TRUST

Attorney for Companies Would Compromise—Conference With Assistant U. S. Attorney General.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Henry A. Wise, former United States district attorney at New York, and now counsel for the General Film company, the so-called moving picture trust, which the department of justice is trying to dissolve under the Sherman law, had a long conference today with W. C. Todd, assistant attorney general in charge of the trust prosecutions, and E. P. Grosvenor, the assistant in this case.

A bill has been filed against the film company and much testimony has been taken. Although no formal announcement was made, it was understood tonight that Mr. Wise made a tentative offer to the government looking to a compromise of the case which would end the proceedings. According to the government the General Film company, practically has a monopoly in its line.

ARRANGE FOR TEACHERS' MEET

Texas Instructors Will Hold Forth at Dallas Three Days, Beginning Today.

Dallas, Nov. 26.—Plans are complete for the entertainment of the Texas Teachers' association, which meets in Dallas tomorrow afternoon for a three days' session. The meeting will be held at the Central high school building, where special programs will be given.

Indications are that more than 3,000 teachers from various points in Texas will attend.

Members from Austin.

Austin, Nov. 26.—Of the sixty-line members of the faculty of the University of Texas who are members of the State Teachers' association, it is probable that nearly the entire number will be in attendance at the meeting of the association at Dallas on Friday and Saturday. The members of the association representing the faculty of the University of Texas are:

ALL TRAINS ARE TO STOP

During Funeral Services of W. W. Finley Operations Will Halt Over Southern System.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 26.—Operations of every kind on the entire Southern railway system will be suspended for a period of five minutes at 11 o'clock eastern time Friday, out of respect to the memory of the late president of the road, W. W. Finley, whose funeral will be held at that hour in Washington.

Trains will be brought to a standstill and machinery in all the shops shut down and all telegraph, telephone and signal apparatus remain idle during this period. Orders to this effect were issued here today by Vice President and General Manager E. H. Coe of the Southern.

Principal offices of the road will also be closed from 11 o'clock to noon Friday and entrances of important Southern buildings and offices draped in black for a period of thirty days.

TELLS NEEDS OF PARCEL POST

Chicago Postmaster Declares Has Not Lessened Cost of Living Nor Aided Farmer.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—The parcel post system grown to such enormous proportions as to be a wonder of the business world thus far has failed to bring about co-operation between the farmer and city man and the elimination of the "middle man."

The amount of food products shipped from agricultural districts by parcel post was declared today by Daniel A. Campbell, postmaster at Chicago, to be scarcely worth considering. Occasionally a turkey, a few chickens, a carton of eggs or a basket of grapes comes through the mail. The parcel post has not operated to reduce the cost of living.

Before the parcel post becomes a medium of direct communication between the producer and the consumer the following conditions must be brought about, according to Mr. Campbell:

Increased weight; greater dispatch in handling perishable goods.

Special facilities at postoffices for loading and unloading farm products.

Special facilities, as icing for protection of perishable goods.

Increased rates if special delivery of perishable goods is demanded.

Co-operation among farmers in establishing shipping facilities.

Co-operation among farmers in establishing a demand for their products in the home, insuring a permanent market.

A campaign to educate farmers in the matter of scientific packing.

COUNTY BANKERS ORGANIZE

Meeting at Dallas to Arrange Details Will Not Interfere With State Association.

Dallas, Nov. 26.—At a meeting of county bankers held in this city today plans were discussed for the organization of the Dallas County Bankers' association. This organization will in no way interfere with the work and purposes of the Texas Bankers' association. It will be organized for the purpose of furthering the interests of county bankers outside of the city of Dallas. Those attending the meeting were E. G. Cole, cashier of the Citizens' National bank, Garland; T. C. Andrews, cashier of the First State bank, Seagoville; J. T. Sultard, cashier of the Farmers' Guaranty State bank, Seagoville; T. A. Sliger, cashier of the Farmers' bank, Duncanville; W. J. Alexander, cashier of the Guaranty State bank, Hutchins; C. E. Hudson, president of the First State bank, Carrollton; C. T. Tigert, cashier of the White Banking company, Wilmer; and C. T. Stark, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants' bank, Kleberg.

The meeting was called by Byrd E. White, a banker at Lancaster. Those attending organized themselves into a committee to work in the interest of such an organization with E. G. Cole temporary chairman and C. T. Tigert secretary.

NO FUND FOR PRAIRIE VIEW

Comptroller Will Not Set Aside $6,000 Annually, According to Attorney General.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 26.—The attorney general's department, in an opinion rendered the county attorney at San Augustine, Tex., relative to a county depository, held that where the debt accepted was for 3½ per cent interest and the depository to pay all scrip and the depository afterwards refused to pay county scrip, the contract being void, the commissioners' court would have authority to declare and advertise for a new depository.

In an opinion rendered the board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college, it was held that Article 2,723, Revised Statutes, requiring the comptroller to set aside annually from the proceeds of the permanent fund of the state university the sum of $6,000 for use of the Prairie View State Normal, is ineffective and the comptroller will not be authorized to follow same.

Belton K. P. Meeting.

Belton, Tex., Nov. 26.—The annual roll call and banquet of Belton lodge No. 51, Knights of Pythias, held last night, was a highly enjoyable affair and was attended by a large number of Pythian delegations being present from nearby places. R. L. Haney of Summers Hill and Mike Armstrong of Sparks, members of the lodge, were special guests of the evening. Hon. Pat M. Neff of Waco was the honor guest of the evening and the principal speaker at the banquet.

LOCK AND DAM SITE APPROVED

GOVERNMENT CALLS ON WACO TO DELIVER RIGHT AND TITLE.

ENGINEER RICHE IN A LETTER

Sends Blueprint to James B. Baker, Public Meeting to Take Action Will Be Called.

The chief of engineers of the United States has approved the location of lock and dam No. 3 of the Brazos river and it is now necessary for the construction of the work be provided for the government.

James B. Baker has received from Col. C. S. Riche, government engineer in charge of the work, blue prints showing the location of the proposed lock and dam.

Engineer Riche's Letter.
In his letter he says:

"The location of lock No. 3 as shown on these prints has been approved by chief of engineers, and in accordance with your statement to me that the people of Waco would procure all lands required for the construction of locks 3 and 6, and turn over the titles to the United States, you are earnestly requested to take the necessary steps toward getting the land and the easements as speedily as possible, as it is the intention to put up the necessary camp buildings and start construction at an early date as possible."

Will Call Meeting.
Mr. Baker expects to call a meeting within a few days of the people of Waco who are interested in the matter. Mr. Baker secured the property necessary for locks No. 1 and No. 3, but on account of the condition of his health he will not be able to undertake to do the work for this dam, and W. W. Seley has agreed to serve for him, and M. C. H. Park, Bart Moore and others have volunteered to assist.

Mr. Baker expects to call a meeting within a few days to lay plans to secure the land necessary and expects to have the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce. It will require from eighteen to twenty-five acres.

In Two Counties.
Lock No. 3 will be located in Robertson and Milam counties. To get to the site one will go to the station Goodlands on the International and Great Northern, the site being one and three-quarters miles from the station. The reservation on the east bank of the river and the proposed right of way for railroad tracks are on the property of J. R. Collier, who lives in Waco, and the reservation on the west bank is on the property of J. A. Feil, Sr., of Hearne, Texas.

HENNESSY PROMISES SURPRISE

Graft Investigator Says Confessions Will Be Made Implicating "Man Higher Up."

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 26.—John A. Hennessy, who was former Governor Sulzer's graft investigator, is authority for the statement that two men will make a confession in the John Doe proceedings in New York next Monday which will involve a "high state official" and possibly others. The nature of the alleged crime will be the most startling feature of the case, Hennessy maintains, and it will involve the passing of money.

"Is it in the line of campaign contributions?" he was asked.

"Far more important than that," he replied.

Hennessy was here today to obtain copies of two highway contracts which District Attorney Whitman desires to use in his investigation.

Advertise Sale of Louisiana Bonds.

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 26.—The state board of liquidation, after an all-day session today, decided to advertise for bids for the sale of $10,000,000 4½ per cent gold bonds not to extend over fifty years. Bids are to be opened December 1. In the event the long term bonds don't bring par, the board is empowered to sell or exchange the emergency bonds at 5 per cent. The state debt is put at $11,380,000, but from this amount was deducted the free school fund and securities held for exchange and not exchanged.

Rev. Sid Williams at Temple.

Temple, Tex., Nov. 26.—Rev. Sid Williams, the well-known evangelist, has been engaged to conduct a revival meeting at the new Memorial Baptist church, commencing November 28, in which he will have the assistance of the pastor of the church, Rev. Carroll Smith.

A special choir has been organized to provide music during the course of the meeting, which will last a number of weeks.

It is guaranteed by Powers-Kelly Drug Co. to do it, or money back. CELEBRATION OF THANKSGIVING DAY

OBSERVANCE OF THE HOLIDAY TO BE GENERAL IN WACO.

SPECIAL SERVICES IN CHURCHES

Festive and Social Side of the Day Will Be Conspicuous—Football, Golf and Other Sports.

Thanksgiving day will be generally observed in Waco. While there will be no public demonstration apart from the special holiday services in the churches, the celebration promises to be a memorable one in its festive and social phases.

Today being a national public holiday, the postoffice and federal offices are closed, although there will be no distribution of mail by the carriers, which has been arranged for by Postmaster Hoffman for the benefit of the business interests of the city.

Special religious exercises will be held in the churches, attractive musical programs being announced as a feature, and there will be Thanksgiving services at the City Mission.

Amusements galore have been provided, the attractions being numerous and diversified. Sport lovers will flock to the big football game on Carroll field this afternoon, where the gridiron gladiators of Baylor and the Northwestern will clash in what bids fair to be the most interesting contest pulled off here this season.

Golf Tournament.

There is wide interest in the golf tournament to be played on the links of the Huaco Golf club, beginning in the forenoon, and votaries of speed contests will find something to interest them in the motorcycle races to be run at Gurley park.

The annual Thanksgiving offerings are being distributed by the King's Daughters among the poor of the city. The Salvation Army made no preparation for Thanksgiving day, but will proceed with the campaign for funds to provide a big Christmas dinner for the poor.

"Hello Girls" to Dine.

The operators in the employ of the Southwest Telephone and Telegraph company will be the guests of the company at a Thanksgiving dinner to be spread in the cafeteria of the building.

FULLY NOURISHED

Grape-Nuts a Perfectly Balanced Food.

No chemist's analysis of Grape-Nuts can begin to show the real value of the food—the practical value as shown by personal experience.

It is a food that is perfectly balanced, supplies the needed elements for both brain and body in all stages of life from the infant, through the strenuous times of active middle life, and is a comfort and support in old age.

"For two years I have used Grape-Nuts with milk and a little cream, for breakfast. I am comfortably hungry for my dinner at noon."

"I use little meat, plenty of vegetables and fruit, in season, for the noon meal, and if tired at tea time, take Grape-Nuts alone and feel perfectly nourished."

"Nerve and brain power and memory are much improved since using Grape-Nuts. I am over sixty and weigh 155 lbs. My son and husband seeing how I had improved are now using Grape-Nuts."

"My son, who is a traveling man, eats nothing for breakfast but Grape-Nuts and a glass of milk. An aunt, over 70, seems fully nourished on Grape-Nuts and cream." "There's a Reason."

TURKEY DAY AT A. & M. COLLEGE

AGGIES WILL BE FED WELL ON HOLIDAY, BUT FRIDAY IS THE DAY.

ANNUAL HOP IS THEN DUE

Dance to Be Given in New Mess Hall.
Tables Removed—Hand out for Supper.

College Station, Tex., Nov. 26.—Sacrificed to King Appetite, 100 Texas turkeys and 100 fat Texas chickens will lay their heads upon the axeman's block to provide a feast for the 550 cadets of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving day will be a day of rest for those cadets who do not attend the football game between the Aggies and the Louisiana Pelicans at Houston. No class duties will be required of them and they will not be forced to attend exercises of any nature. Hunting, walking and visiting the many young maids who will gather here for the Thanksgiving hop will constitute the chief amusements of the day for the "stay-at-homes." There will be not more than 200 cadets who will go to Houston on the special train that will leave the college at 7:10 o'clock and will return from Houston at 9 o'clock that night.

But Friday will be the red letter day of the week for the students. Friday night is the time for the annual Thanksgiving hop, when young women from all sections of the state will gather at the college. And Friday is the day for the big dinner which will be served at the Bernard Shiba mess hall.

Handout for Supper.

Inasmuch as the boys will be given a handout for supper, the dinner this year will be unusually elaborate. The dance will be given in the new mess hall and to get the hall ready for that event will necessitate the removal of tables early in the afternoon. The boys will be served the big dinner and then chicken sandwiches, fruits and other edibles will be placed in paper bags and left at each plate.

Turkey dinner is an institution on Thanksgiving day and Mr. Shiba, who for thirty-six years has been feeding students of the college, intends that this day of thanks shall be no different from days of other years. His Will Lewis for many years head cook under Mr. Shiba, has four assistant cooks and four assistants.

Members of the First Presbyterian church and those of the Second Presbyterian church will unite in Thanksgiving services at the First Presbyterian church at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The offering will be for the orphan's home at Eliza Valley.

Central Christian Church.

At the Central Christian church the following program for the day will be observed:
From 6:20 to 7:30 p. m., Thanksgiving supper in the basement of church.
At 7:45 in the main auditorium, reception to all new members received in the church during the year. On arrival each new member will be presented with a suitable badge and turned over to the reception committee.

At 8 p. m. there will be the annual election of officers of the church for the coming year, also annual reports of every department of the church work, including the Sunday school and all its departments; the senior and junior Endeavor societies, the Ladies' union, the Ladies' Aid, the Woman's Christian board of missions, also all departments of the officers of the church, including the annual pastor's report.

This will be followed by short, spicy talks from the department on the outlook and the work for 1914. The program will be interspersed with instrumental and vocal music, and the gathering promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the year.

Every member of the Christian church in the city, whether a member of the local congregation or not, is invited to attend.

St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The services at St. Paul's church will consist of morning prayer and sermon by the pastor. A selected choir will sing the Thanksgiving anthems and other music arranged for this occasion. The offering collected will be for the widows and orphans of Episcopal clergymen in the United States.

Social Functions Tonight.

There will be a number of dances and other social entertainments tonight to celebrate the holiday, the principal among them being the opening dance of the Philo club. For the past thirty years the Philo has been a factor in the social life of Waco, and the dance which marks the opening of the present season bids fair to be one of the most brilliant occasions in its history.

The Huaco club will mark Thanksgiving by a handicap golf tournament. The club course will be a scene of animation all day, as more than fifty players are expected to participate, and many of them will start their first round early in the morning.

PRESS CLUB BANQUET.

Given at Oriental at Dallas—150 Guests Attend.

Dallas, Nov. 26.—The annual banquet by the Dallas Press Club was given tonight at the Oriental hotel. More than one hundred and fifty guests attended. The reception committee was as follows:

Mrs. H. C. Withers, chairman; Miss Leola Cullum, Miss Annie Cullum, Mrs. Tom Gooch, Mrs. Walter B. Whitman, Mrs. Douglas Hawley, Mrs. E. S. Elbert, Mrs. E. A. Vaughn, Mrs. F. A. Briggs, Mrs. M. W. Florer, Mrs. W. C. Barickman, Mrs. J. T. Mann, Mrs. A. L. Harper, Mrs. Ben Lewis, Mrs. Noah Roark, Mrs. Jack Bates, Mrs. E. R. Hambrick, Mrs. W. B. McAdams, Mrs. E. B. Doran, Mrs. Jake H. Harrison, Mrs. J. F. Knott, Mrs. B. F. Huckabee, Mrs. P. V. Snow, Mrs. J. C. Cole.

Funeral of Dick Nelson.

Belton, Tex., Nov. 26.—The body of Dick Nelson, formerly a resident of this city, who died at Fort Worth several days ago, was brought here today for interment and funeral services conducted here. Deceased was a veteran of the Spanish-American war and served in the Second Texas infantry.

THANKSGIVING
AT WHITE HOUSE

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL OB-SERVE FOR FIRST TIME AT CAPITAL.

HAS TWO SPECIAL TURKEYS

One From Rhode Island, Other From Kentucky—Will Attend
Mass.

Washington, Nov. 26.—President Wilson will have his first Thanksgiving at the white house surrounded by a few friends and all his immediate family except Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre, who was married yesterday and is on her honeymoon.

Two special turkeys, one from Rhode Island and the other from Kentucky, will be on the white house table. In the morning the president will attend pan-American mass in St. Patrick's church, an annual event to which many officials and members of the diplomatic corps lend their presence.

Resolutions by Protestant clergymen against the president's attendance because of the official atmosphere they contend is thrown about the service, had not changed the president's plans so far as was known tonight.

In the afternoon the president may take a turn on the golf links if the weather is favorable. Most other officials of the administration will dine at their homes here. Vice President Marshall and Mrs. Marshall are expected back from Arizona.

Speaker Clark, Secretary Bryan and most of the members of the cabinet will dine with their families. Secretary Garrison will visit his brother in New Jersey and Secretary Redfield his home in Brooklyn.

South Trimble, clerk of the house of representatives, sent to the president and each cabinet officer a turkey from his Kentucky farm.

It will be a holiday in all the government offices.

OBSERVANCE AT AUSTIN.

All Offices at the Capitol Will Close Today.

Austin, Nov. 26.—All offices in the state capitol will be closed tomorrow. Thanksgiving day will be observed throughout the capitol and other departments in conjunction with the state and city government.

Belton Thanksgiving Services.

Belton, Nov. 26.—Union Thanksgiving services will be held at the Methodist church tomorrow at 10 a. m., participated in by practically all the churches of the city.

Rev. E. L. Storey, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will deliver the sermon. Thanksgiving services will also be held at the chapel in Baylor college at which time District Judge John D. Robinson will deliver an address.

Nearly every business house and office in the city has signed an agreement to observe Thanksgiving day as a full holiday.

Thanksgiving at Dallas.

Dallas, Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving day will be officially and formally observed in Dallas. Special services will be conducted at various houses of worship and in the afternoon there will be a union service at the First Methodist church.

Tomatoes Success at Kempner.

Kempner, Tex., Nov. 26.—J. M. Higginbotham, a farmer residing near this place, becoming interested in the cultural methods recommended by the United States department of agriculture, concluded to experiment with same on a small scale and planted one-tenth of an acre in tomatoes on irrigated land, which he carefully tended strictly according to directions.

As a result he has already sold tomatoes to the value of $140 from this small patch, which if carried out on a larger scale would produce $1,400 per acre.

is the sum and substance of the experience of Mr. Shiba.

But Thanksgiving day promises to be a "regular" holiday. Wednesday night and Thursday night will probably witness informal dances at the old mess hall and the gymnasium, but there is nothing of importance on the program for that day. In addition to those who will go to Houston a number of the cadets will eat turkey in Bryan.

But look out Friday.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

INTERESTING CEREMONIES AT CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH LAST NIGHT.

Vocal and Instrumental Music, Prayer and Oratory the Program for the Evening.

At the Central Presbyterian church last night a Thanksgiving service was held which was out of the ordinary and which proved of interest.

Rev. E. E. Ingram wanted to impress on his congregation that among other things to be thankful for at this time is that this is a great nation among the powers of the earth. He had decorated the interior with ferns and flowers, bringing to mind the green fruits of the earth of which there is a plenty among the people, and at proper places about the edifice were displayed the United States flags, indicating the supremacy of a government that is great in power, great in its work for good and great in its protection of the freedom of the people.

Three Subjects Discussed.

Addresses were arranged for on three subjects, the three that, in the mind of Dr. Ingram, were factors in making America great. "Education," "Freedom of the Press" and "Religious Liberty." So, Hirschberg, who was to speak on Religious Liberty, could not be present, and Dr. Ingram spoke a few words on that subject.

Prof. R. L. Abbott, county superintendent of public instruction, spoke on Education and brought out the breadth of that feature of government's care of and dependence on the people, making the nation strong by bringing forth men who had passed the formative period in the schools of the country wherein they are taught morals, right principles, trust and honesty.

Fostered by the States.

He emphasized the fact that not only is education fostered by the national government, but by every state in the Union, and that through the teaching of the children, the government protects its people from a growth of ignorance that would cripple the very institutions that make the breadth and strength of the government.

James Hays Quarles spoke on the "Freedom of the Press." He emphasized the fact that not only does the constitution of the United States, but the constitutions of all the states guarantee freedom of speech and of the press, and brought out that it is through this freedom that the greatness of America as a nation is made possible, and quoted eminent authorities to show that a censorship of the press would be permitted only by a despotic government.

Thanksgiving Prayer.

The Thanksgiving prayer of the evening was given by Rev. A. D. Porter of the Morrow street Methodist church. He voiced a beautiful sentiment and made his spiritual acknowledgment of the obligation to the Creator broad enough to cover all the blessings for which the people of a nation have cause to be thankful.

The music was excellent. Mrs. J. W. Carroll was at the piano. Miss Stella Lacy was heard in a contralto solo and Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Miller sang a religious sentiment in duet.

English figures give the world's consumption of cotton in the year ending with August at 20,277,386 running bales, of which 13,760,261 bales were American.

DINNERS ARE COSTLY

THANKSGIVING PRICES HIGHER
THIS YEAR THAN EVER.

Turkey Not Thanksgiving Bird, Say
Authorities—The Goose is Proper.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The 1913 Thanksgiving dinner will be the most expensive meal the average American has eaten during the last twenty-five years. It will cost from 35 to 100 per cent more than it did ten years ago and from 15 to 50 per cent more than any Thanksgiving day during the last six years, according to recently gathered government statistics.

Thousands of turkeys, spoiled by having been shipped to market during the unseasonably warm weather which overspread the country a week ago; the drought of last summer, which shortened crop yields, particularly potatoes, an allied cold storage combi-

THEY DIDN'T KNOW WHAT THEY HAD BEFORE THEM

What would Thanksgiving Day be without a turkey?

Thanksgiving Day is the judgment day of the turkeys that have behaved themselves and have become nice and plump so that they might adorn some festive board to be the magnet that attracts all eyes; to be the force that makes one's mouth water; to make one finger his knife and fork and incidentally cast suspicious glances at the ruby cranberry sauce.

You know and everyone knows of the large, undreamed-of profits made on West Austin and West Franklin streets within a block or two from Castle Heights. In addition to this, the assured WACO-TEMPLE INTERURBAN can hardly enter the city without going either through or right alongside Castle Heights. It is the logical way. It is but a question of a short time when work will commence on the Temple-Waco Interurban. The moment construction begins, it means a big increase in all the values in the Castle Heights district. The people who made the big money on the Dallas-Waco Interurban were the ones that bought before construction commenced.

Lots $250 to $575. On the Hill Adjoining Abeel's $60,000 Castle, Overlooking City

Where lots have sold as high as $1,500. It has been practically impossible to buy lots anywhere around the Castle on Austin and Franklin streets—wealthy people bought up all available lots, realizing that it would be only a short time before lots would be bringing from $2,000.00 to $5,000.00 each, being the value of lots on Austin and Franklin streets within a few blocks of Castle Heights. Castle Heights will be the district of high priced homes. The pace has been set by the $10,000 to $60,000 homes already built alongside of Castle Heights. Alfred Abeel has just completed the castle at a cost of $60,000. Allen R. Sanford's $40,000 home is about completed, just two blocks from Castle Heights. Prof. Hill's $10,000 home adjoins Castle Heights. J. B. McCauley's $12,500 home is just across Franklin street from Castle Heights. This is the class of homes that are being built in the Castle Heights district.

STATE SUPREME COURT HOLDS LAND APPORTIONMENT ACT CONSTITUTIONAL.

Court of Criminal Appeals Reverses and Remands Israel Hill Murder Case.

Austin, Nov. 26.—The state supreme court in an opinion written by Judge Nelson Phillips today held constitutional the act of the Thirty-third legislature known as the land reapportionment act.

The act provides for the forfeiture of lands purchased from the state for non-payment of interest and the privilege of the original owner to repurchase within ninety days at a repurchase value by the board of land appraisers created under the act.

Under a former act, repurchase was possible by application for reinstatement having been filed and tendering of all accrued interest. It was by this provision that the case came to the supreme court in the case styled Frank A. Judkins vs. J. T. Robinson, land commissioner. Application for mandamus was filed to compel the land commissioner to allow Judkins the repurchase of his land under the original act after he had filed application with the board and reapportionment of the land showed an increase in value of one dollar per acre. The commissioner refused to allow the repurchase and in the original application for mandamus, the constitutionality of the act was assailed, but, an amended petition dropped the question of constitutionality from the petition.

The court, in passing on the act today, said:

"It is the plain intent of the act to extend to forfeiting owners of lands described, a distinct and additional remedy for reinvestiture of such title as was possessed under the original purchase from the state. The effect of the act is to afford the forfeiting owners the privilege of repurchase of the land and its repurchase at its new valuation. The title however, may be reacquired under the act only by its purchase at such valuation and this of itself precludes the idea that it may be reacquired by reinstatement at a possibly different valuation as provided under article 5423." The petition for a mandamus was refused.

"We do not think this enactment can be properly characterized as a relief act," the opinion continues. "The act does not relate to any acquisition of the title except upon the full performance of the purchase obligation nor does it involve extension of any indulgence for the performance of the obligation."

"Tested either by its provisions or its necessary effect the act is not violative of the constitutional provisions. We think that the act at best only gives the previous owner the preference right to repurchase the land and under the established holding of this court, a statute of that character is not prohibited by the constitution."

The court of criminal appeals today reversed and remanded the case of Israel Hill of Harrison county, found guilty of the murder of his wife and given the death penalty by the lower court of Harrison county. The court held that he should have been tried under the old law and not the one abolishing degrees of murder.

The court also reversed and remanded the case of Jasper Smith from Upshur, given 45 years for second degree murder.

Affirmation of the lower court holding in the case of Bud Borders from Ellis county, given life imprisonment for first degree murder of his wife, was ordered. Borders was convicted in the November term of court in 1912.

Fred Shaw of Kaufman county, given life imprisonment for the first degree murder of Nathan Hicks by shooting, was also held responsible for the penalty imposed by the lower court. Minnie Hicks of Caldwell county, sentenced on a second degree murder charge, was also affirmed.

The case of Theodore Kuykendall of Montague county, found guilty of being drunk in a public place, was affirmed.

The court of criminal appeals held valid today the Beaumont city ordinance creating a city garbage department, when it affirmed the habeas corpus appeal of Rufus London from Jefferson county. The court held that the Beaumont city charter gave authority for the creation of the garbage department.

The habeas corpus proceedings instituted by James Singleton from Harrison county were dismissed. In dismissing the application the court refused to pass upon the validity of the act of the recent legislature providing for the creation of lunacy commissions. The court contended that Singleton was not deprived of his liberty on any criminal charge.

HILL CO. AFTER MORE ROADS

Itasca Launches Campaign for Bonds and Mount Calm to Do Same.

Hillsboro, Nov. 26.—The following card, received here today, together with the announcement from Itasca that a mass meeting held there last night overwhelmingly voted to launch a good roads bonds campaign, are taken to indicate that Hill county has the good roads fever and is now incurable.

"Mount Calm, Tex., Nov. 24, 1913. 'Publisher Mirror, Hillsboro, Texas.

"Please send me copy of Monday's Mirror, as I want to spread precinct No. 1 all over the Banner. Success to you."

(Signed) "JAS. E. DISMUKES, 'Publisher, The Banner'.

These come as the direct result of the winning of an election for the issue of $250,000 of good roads bonds in justice precinct No. 1, surrounding Hillsboro, Saturday, the vote of which election was canvassed by the commissioners' court this afternoon.

It is believed that every section of the county within the next few months will have issued good roads bonds to connect with the pikes to be built in justice precinct No. 1.

Chapman Grant Is Anxious to Fight; Becomes a Soldier

New York, Nov. 26.—Chapman Grant, a grandson of General U. S. Grant, has resigned a position in the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences to become a soldier. Early in December he will leave for Texas to become second lieutenant in the Fourteenth United States cavalry.

Discussing his resignation, which was announced today, Grant said his decision to join the army at this time had been prompted by a possibility that he would see active service in Mexico. The Fourteenth is doing duty along the Mexican border.

"I merely thought there might be a war," said the youth, the son of Jesse R. Grant, youngest son of the late general and president. "If there should be a war I want to be in it. I suppose this business of becoming a soldier might become a family matter and that it is a natural thing to expect of me. But as far as the matter of my appointment at this particular time goes, I have no inside information as to the likelihood of war. In a way I am taking a chance on it. But I guess I would have gone into the army anyway, war or no war."

Chapman Grant was graduated from Williams college in 1910. He has been curator of entomology at the Children's Museum of the Brooklyn Institute since September 1. He received his commission as second lieutenant as a successful competitor in examinations last July for the appointment of civilians to the army.

TO AID HILL FARMERS

HILLSBORO COMMERCIAL ORGANIZATIONS GET TOGETHER ON GENERAL PLANS.

Roasting Ear Preserving Plant to Be Erected and Will Benefit Farmers.

Hillsboro, Nov. 26.—That the Board of Trade and the Young Men's Booster Club propose to join hands with the farmers of Hill county and boost the farmer's game as well as that of the city man, was clearly demonstrated at a meeting of the executive committees of the two organizations held here last evening when arrangements were made to display Hill county corn at the Texas Industrial Congress in Dallas on December 13, when a proposal for the establishment of a roasting ear preservation plant, made by a Kansas City man, and when, by unanimous vote, an invitation was extended to all farmers of the county to join either of the organizations and assist in perfecting plans whereby their marketing facilities will be improved. This latter work the clubs decided to take up at once.

Recently the Board of Trade and Young Men's Booster Club purchased the prize exhibits of corn at the Hill county fair, and later the prize corn in the First State bank contest. These, while making a permanent exhibit for the organizations, will be sent to Dallas on December 13. It is declared that the Hill county corn will compare favorably with that raised in any section of the state, in spite of the fact that the past season was a poor one.

C. E. L. Watson has been in communication with the commercial organizations for some time, relative to putting up a roasting ear preserving plant here. It is said that the roasting ear is the hardest of all commodities to ship long distances, as the heat generated within the ear causes it to spoil before it has reached the eastern and northern markets. Mr. Watson claims to have a process whereby this fault can be overcome, and offered to put up a plant which will cost him in the neighborhood of $2,500 here, provided the commercial organizations would guarantee that he could secure contract for the output of 200 acres of Hill county land, the land to grow corn of the variety desired.

Secretary E. N. Farris is hopeful that this is one step in the direction of a large canning factory for Hillsboro. The commercial organizations, meantime, are to act as distributing agents of the seed corn for Mr. Watson.

It is stated that Mr. Watson has never paid less than $50 an acre for corn for his factory, and in many instances the farmers have made a net profit on their corn of more than this. The factory sells his roasting ears direct to the Watson plant at so much a dozen—not a bushel—the middle man thus being eliminated to the advantage of both farmer and the Watson plant.

Considerable discussion resulted during the evening as to the advisability of the commercial organizations endeavoring to secure better markets and better marketing conditions for the farmers of Hill county, and it was agreed unanimously that this work would be taken up as one of the chief aims of the organizations. The theory upon which the work will be done is that whatever is good for the Hillsboro people, and better prices and the saving of commissions on the products of Hill county will mean more money in the pockets of the farmers and hence more money in circulation in the county. Closer and more friendly relations than have ever before existed between the farmers of the county and the merchants of the city are believed inevitable through the efforts of these two bodies.

IN THE HILLSBORO COURTS

Adam Davis Is Defendant in Slander Case—In District Court—Chil-dress vs. Crow.

Hillsboro, Nov. 26.—While Adam Davis is defending himself in the county court this morning on a charge of slander, the district court is preparing to take up another end of the controversy in which Jesse Adams, his daughter-in-law, seeks money damages for the alleged slanderous assertions.

The charges grew out of the separation of Jesse Davis from her husband, and alleged subsequent statements made by Adam Davis as to the cause of the separation.

This morning arguments in the district court were begun in the case of A. W. Childress against George W. Crow, a suit to set aside deed to certain lands in the western part of the county and remove cloud from title.

During the week in the county court a number of civil cases were disposed of by Judge J. D. Stephenson as follows:

P. T. Smith against F. M. Hess, suit involving cotton crop; judgment for $50.

C. M. Williams against J. M. Reynolds, agreed judgment.

Burne Ellison Realty Co. against A. C. Pool, suit for commission; judgment $250.

J. E. Jeffries against C. D. Martin, suit for commissions; judgment for $250.

F. M. Files against John Whitson, appeal from justice court; judgment for $55.

H. E. Chiles against H. E. Cannaday, appeal from justice court; hung jury.

TESTIMONY IN WIRELESS CASE

Is Alleged That Company Paid Dividends Out of Sale of Stock.

New York, Nov. 26.—Granville T. Ivory, the first of more than one hundred witnesses from all parts of the country called by the government to testify in the trial of James Dunlap Smith, Samuel E. Darby, Lee De Forest and Elmer E. Burlingame, charged with conspiracy to defraud investors in wireless telephone stock, was examined in the federal court today. The examination of Mr. Ivory, who was a director in one of the companies organized by the defendants, will be resumed Friday.

In his opening statement to the jury, Robert Stephenson, United States district attorney, declared that when it was announced that battleships of the navy were equipped with radio telephones the stock of the Radio Telephone company of which Smith was president, jumped from $10 to $30 a share.

Later when the navy department, after giving the apparatus a trial, discarded it, the Radio Telephone company continued to represent that it was doing a successful business and went on paying dividends of 12 percent out of money derived from the sale of $700,000 worth of treasury stock.

As late as 1912, when the government raid occurred, Mr. Stephenson declared several subsidiary companies were organized with a united capital of $50,000,000. It was with money received from the sale of stock of these companies, he said, that dividends continued to be paid.

DALLAS FILTRATION PLANT.
Commissioner Nelms Promises Water Monday.

Dallas, Nov. 26.—Crystal clear water for next Monday. Delivered through the city mains at regular water bill rates. That's what Water Commissioner Nelms promised Dallas people this afternoon, after a consultation with Engineer Morey of the filter plant.

The water which will come from the plant will be cleaned but not softened. The softening process cannot be successfully accomplished until various leaks in the coagulation pipe system are located and mended. The whole plant will be in operation before the end of the week, however.

NEW INTERURBAN PROJECT

Rumor Says Old Dallas-New Mexico Railroad Would Be Purchased.

Dallas, Nov. 26.—Since the financing of the Port Worth to Denton interurban line, and the certainty that it will be constructed, there has sprung to life in Dallas interurban circles a report that seems founded upon fact.

It says in effect that a new Dallas company will be formed, that the twenty-mile jump of the old Dallas and New Mexico railroad will be purchased and a branch to the Port Worth-Denton line built. This would give an almost direct interurban line to Denton, and according to many expert railroad engineers, would be less to build than any interurban line ever constructed out of Dallas.

The territory through which the proposed line would run is one of the best to be found in Texas, and would add tremendously to the Dallas net of interurban lines. It would open up virgin territory as far as trolley lines are concerned, also, and it is said that it would not interfere in any way with the Port Worth project.

IDENTIFICATIONS COMPLETED

Four Persons Killed in Auto Crash in New York—All Are Prominent.

New York, Nov. 26.—Identification of the four persons killed in the Pelham Parkway automobile crash early this morning was completed today, many hours after the accident with the statement of a youth that one of the women victims was his sister, Miss Helen Schaeffer, 20 years old, a manicurist.

The others who are dead were Thomas F. Denney (democratic) member of the assembly from the nineteenth district of Manhattan; Mrs. Fannie Loos and Leonard Cohen, a dress goods manufacturer, prominent in Tammany circles. They were occupants of Cohen's car, the negro chauffeur of which was slightly injured.

Three or four persons in the other car owned by Barthold B. Rich, were injured, but none fatally. Rich is a garage owner and connected with an automobile company that bears his name. Ten years ago he was left $1,000,000 by his father, who was a real estate owner. The son has figured in several automobile accidents here in recent years. Last year Rich's wife divorced him. She set forth before a referee that Rich had been spending $50,000 a year on Broadway.

DINNERS ARE COSTLY

nation, which Attorney General McReynolds now is investigating to find if millions of dozens of eggs and millions of pounds of dairy products have been withheld from the market by middle men to force high prices, and the steady soaring of prices generally during the last decade are among the contributing causes to which economic point.

The great American hen, however, is somewhat responsible for the extraordinarily high price of eggs, according to department of agriculture officials.

As to turkeys, the rise in prices seems to have extended all along the route to the consumer, beginning at the barnyard, where the farmer received an average of 15c a pound for his birds—about 10c more than he got last year. But turkey is not a Thanksgiving bird at all, according to the experts.

Goose Is Thanksgiving Bird.
"The Lord never intended turkey to be the Thanksgiving food of the country generally," says Dr. Mary E. Pennington, the expert in food research in the federal bureau of chemistry.

"Christmas is the time for turkey. Gooses are the Thanksgiving bird and is generally used in Europe where St. Martin's day is celebrated about this time of year. In colonial days in New England, where the winter season sets in early, it was different and more favorable to turkeys, but such conditions do not prevail over the United States as a whole.

The family which turns from turkey to chicken, pork or beef, will find prices uniformly advanced. Hens show an increase of 5c a pound, pork 2c to 3c, rib roasts 2c to 10c, sweet potatoes have advanced owing to this year's crop being 100,000,000 bushels below last year's and dangerous plant diseases abroad which have checked imports.

Apples, oranges and grapes are scarce because of a short crop. Cranberries with a normal crop are a little higher than last year. Flour and sugar are uniformly cheaper and butter shows no comparative advance.

Eggs Are Up.
Eggs, however, from incomplete returns dated November 15, from principal cities, show increases ranging from 3c to 14c a dozen over last year's prices.

Agents of the bureau of labor, which has been making a special study of prices, have compiled statistics showing prices of certain commodities on November 15 in cities from which their geographical location should fairly represent conditions throughout the country. Their figures, showing present prices and those of two, four and six years ago, respectively, are as follows:

New York—Eggs 55c, 45c, 40c and 35c; butter 41c, 35c, 30c and 25c; hens 22c, 18c, 15c and 12c; rib roasts 22c, 18c, 15c and 12c; sirloin 20c, 15c, 12c and 10c; pork chops 20c, 15c, 12c and 10c; potatoes 25c, 20c, 15c and 12c.

Philadelphia—Eggs 50c, 44c, 40c and 35c; butter 45c, 40c, 35c and 30c; hens 25c, 20c, 15c and 12c; sirloin 20c, 15c, 12c and 10c; pork chops 20c, 15c, 12c and 10c; potatoes 25c, 20c, 15c and 12c.

Chicago—Butter 37c, 40c, 35c and 30c; hens 18c, 15c, 12c and 10c; rib roasts 22c, 18c, 15c and 12c; sirloin 20c, 15c, 12c and 10c; pork chops 20c, 15c, 12c and 10c; potatoes 25c, 20c, 15c and 12c.

St. Louis—Eggs 22½c, 20c, 22c and 25c; butter 40c, 40c, 37½c and 35c; rib roasts 22½c, 15c, 12½c and 12½c; sirloin 30c, 22½c, 15c and 15c; potatoes 25c, 30c, 35c and 25c.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS
Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

JAILER PEEPED THROUGH CRACK

KENNEDY TESTIFIES TO CON-FERENCE BETWEEN WITTY AND HIS LAWYERS.

STATE ATTACKS INSANITY

Prosecution Endeavors to Show That Slayer of Lula Ozmert Was Never Insane.

In the attempt to break down the defense of insanity in the case of J. B. Witty, charged with the murder of Lula Ozmert, the state yesterday introduced evidence to the effect that Witty apparently became weak minded after a consultation with his lawyers on the day after the murder, and that he returned to his normal condition when closeted with his attorneys and ignorant of the fact that he was observed.

Jailer Kennedy Testifies. M. M. Kennedy, who was jailer at the time of the murder, testified that he watched through a crack in the door of the room where Witty was conferring with his attorneys, Lud Williams and N. B. Williams. That as soon as he entered the room and the door was closed upon the three, he lost the appearance of slouchy policy which characterized him at other times, and that he talked with them in his usual intelligent manner.

He Saw But Could Not Hear. On another occasion Kennedy watched through an outside window while Witty and his attorneys were in conference, and observed a similar change in his attitude, although he did not hear the conversation. Kennedy further testified that Witty appeared to be sane when first taken to the county jail, in the early morning after the murder.

His Changed Demeanor. He received his friends and conversed with them. About 10 o'clock, after a conference with his attorneys, he appeared unimpaired of words and dressed him by the jailer, apparently failed to recognize his friends, seemed morose, sulky and taciturn and always stood or sat in a slouched over position except on the occasions when he was in secret conference.

Kennedy's testimony came as the conclusion of the day's proceedings in the Fifth-fourth district court at 5:30 in the afternoon. Judge Munroe adjourning the case until this morning.

Other Witnesses. Other witnesses placed on the stand were Jack Ozmert, aged 13, son of the murdered woman; Henry Mitschner, who roomed in the same house with Mrs. Ozmert, and was an eye witness to the murder; Joe Ozmert, the 18-year-old son of Mrs. Ozmert; John M. Curtis, Arthur Blake, John McNamara and M. E. Wilkins.

Jack Ozmert testified that he was sleeping in the room with his mother at 263 1/2 South Eighth street, on the night of the killing, and that when he awoke shortly after midnight, his mother was lying on another bed in the room dead, where she had been carried after the shooting.

Henry Mitschner testified that he roomed across the hall from Mrs. Ozmert. Early on the night of the murder, Witty and two officers searched the house looking for Oscar Witty. At ten minutes after twelve Witty returned with a man named Williams, came upstairs and knocked on Mrs. Ozmert's door, ordering her in a rough tone to come out.

Called for Protection. She replied that Oscar was not in the house, and begged them to go away without waking her children. Then she came to the door and called for Mitschner to protect her. Williams tried to get Witty away, and failing, went alone. Mitschner ran down the steps alone, and as he reached the street he heard a scream and five shots. Witty came down steps, dropped a pistol on the pavement, picked it up and walked to a telephone in the Lemcke hotel, where he telephoned to the police.

She Died in Fifteen Minutes. Mitschner went to the back of the house with Officer Ed Costley and found Mrs. Ozmert lying under a buggy, where she had crawled for protection. She was carried upstairs and died in fifteen minutes. Mitschner saw three wounds in her back. Mitschner was on the stand about an hour and a half.

Saw Him Attack Oscar. Joe Ozmert testified, among other things, that on one occasion J. B. Witty attacked Oscar Witty when he found the latter talking to Mrs. Ozmert, and said to Mrs. Ozmert: "I'll kill you; I'll get you yet." He was restrained from attacking her by men standing near.

Dr. A. M. Curtis, who was called to the scene immediately after the murder testified that she was killed by three bullet wounds in the back. Arthur Blake testified to the nature of the wounds.

Witty's "Confession." The state introduced as evidence the "confession" made by Witty on the night of the killing to Justice of the Peace N. B. Harris, in which Witty declared that he came to Mrs. Ozmert's rooms looking for his brother, Oscar, that she came to the door and spoke to him in abusive language, that he shot her three times as she ran down the hall and fired two more shots at her as she was running down the back stairs.

Here the state rested. The defendant introduced as evidence the lunacy proceedings of the county court in September, 1910, two months after the shooting, when Witty was sent to the asylum at Austin. The documents introduced were certified copies of the complaint against Witty as made by his brother, Oscar, the warrant for his arrest, the verdict of the jury, the judgment of the court, and the commitment to the asylum. County Attorney John McNamara was placed on the stand to testify that the defendant was the same as the Witty who was convicted of lunacy in the county court.

Here the defense rested. Witty's Former Partner. In rebuttal, the state introduced the testimony of M. E. Wilkins, of East Waco. Mr. Wilkins testified that he had been acquainted with Witty for many years as a barber, and that he had engaged in business transactions with him and that Witty never showed indications of insanity.

M. M. Kennedy, formerly county jailer, was then placed on the stand and testified as above stated. The case will be continued this morning at 9 o'clock, and will probably be adjourned for the day at noon.

TRAVELING GIRL'S GUIDE AND FRIEND

SUNNY AND SMILING WOMAN IN BLACK IS EVER WATCHING, WAITING.

MRS. FRENCH AND HER WORK

Agent of Travelers' Aid, Employed by Federation of Missions, Tells of Her Work in Waco.

The young woman making a long journey by rail these days is not necessarily an "unprotected female." She may be an unsophisticated country girl with no knowledge of the dangers of the susceptible, giddy, giggling age, in particular—and her journey may carry her through cities where she must make changes from one railroad station to another, but it doesn't follow that she must go astray, in any sense of the word.

A guardian angel other than the one she has seen pictured in Biblical story, with flowing white wings and a halo, is at her elbow to guide her footsteps and see her safely to her destination. Mrs. Della French is one of these.

Watching and Waiting. Through the crowd in this waiting room at the Missouri, Kansas and Texas station as the 4 p. m. south-bound passenger train came rumbling alongside the platform, a woman in black pressed her way. She led the crowd of waiting travelers out to the platform, walking rapidly to the nearest coach and scanning the faces of the disembarking passengers.

Her eyes followed especially the young women who stepped from the platforms of the coaches. Once or twice, as if she had recognized the face for which she was searching, she started forward, seemingly to intercept one of the women in the line moving past her to the street or into the waiting room, only to fall back the next moment with her hands folded across her waist as the young woman, who, for the moment, had won her interest, was approached and greeted by some waiting friend or relative.

Her Sunny Personality. She was a cheery, matronly looking woman, the woman in black, with brown hair slightly tinged with gray, kindly eyes that looked out through timeless gold spectacles, sharply contrasted with good humor and cordiality, into the faces that passed. Her comfortably rounded figure, the glow in her cheeks and her brisk step betokened the middle-aged woman of perfect physical force and energy.

That cheery smile, which one quickly discovers after contemplating the woman in the sombre dress a minute or more, is what first attracted his attention, never leaves her face. It is the pleasant look that cannot be counterfeit, the natural, contented expression of a woman in the bloom of health with a happy frame of mind.

She was lauded, as she always is, by the railroad stations, and, true to the feminine instinct, she turned from the now deserted platform to re-enter the waiting room, where women and girls with their male escorts were sitting on the benches, chatting and throwing inquiring glances at each newcomer entering the room. She turned to the female friends who were waiting on the platform, and she was greeted with a warm smile and a friendly handshake.

No "Station Matron" She. "Yes, I'm Mrs. French," she acknowledged with an amused little laugh as a reporter for the Morning News accosted her in the room, inquiring—quite needlessly, for the badge of her office fluttered over her shoulder, half a yard of ribbon with the words "Travelers' Aid," stamped upon it—if she were "Mrs. French, the station matron."

"But I'm not the station matron, you know," she added quickly. "Everybody makes that same mistake. I am a Travelers' Aid agent. The station matron, where there are one, is employed by the railroad company to look after the things in the station. Now, I have nothing in the world to do with the station. Certainly not. I'm looking after the women travelers who need my assistance. You see, they are different." And Mrs. French laughed again, nodding her acknowledgment of the reporter's apology for his ignorance.

She Tells of Her Work. "Yes, of course, I'll tell you about my work. It's just what you have been me doing. That was not a good train for me, though. I had no material at all on that train—or did you notice?"

"Do I meet many women here who need my services? Indeed I do, a great many. Almost every train that comes in puts somebody on the platform needing assistance. Usually I have to search them out. It's always a surprise to me when they are so good when they are women. You see, the Travelers' Aid is something new here. It isn't known in this part of the state yet. In the larger cities the girls and women who are traveling alone, lots of them, know all about the Travelers' Aid. They are seeking information of any kind they look about for us. We wear these badges." And Mrs. French flipped the ribbon with her fingers.

Just Four Years Old. "Where the mission of the Travelers' Aid is known our work is greatly facilitated," she pursued. "Everybody should know about the work we are doing. Four years ago the movement was started, and now the system is established in most of the larger cities and is rapidly extending into the smaller ones."

"Is there need for it everywhere? Yes, I think so—most everywhere, at any rate. Women of every class and condition traveling alone need some one to direct them to the railroad stations. It isn't the unsophisticated country girl alone who becomes confused when traveling. Women, as a rule, are all at sea when they have to make inquiries at railroad stations about train connections. I have seen intelligent looking women wandering around the stations here wearing an expression of distress. They wanted information about trains and were too shy or too worried or too anxious to walk up to the ticket window or to any of the many men wearing the uniform of the railroad, and ask.

Meets All Sorts of Women. "Of course, I am on the lookout for this kind as well as for all the others, and I just go to the front, explain what I am here for, and get the information for them that enables them to catch the trains they would otherwise miss. Then there is the young girl who arrives on a train expecting some one to meet her and the some one fails to appear. She is a stranger in the city, but has the address of her friends or relatives. I learn her troubles and pass her on to her destination.

"Oh, there are all sorts of women who need looking after when traveling without an escort. They are to be found at every railroad station every day everywhere. It was a realization of this that led to the great movement for which the Travelers' Aid stands. It is the purpose of the association to guide the whole world with a chain of Travelers' Aid agents so that eventually it will be as safe for a woman as for a man to travel on the railroads."

The Daily Routine. "The agents of the association are engaged by and receive their compensation from local organizations interested in the movement. You know, of course, that I am employed by the Federation of City Missionary societies."

"Do I spend the whole day at this station? Certainly not. I divide my time between this and the Cotton Belt. The Cotton Belt is my busiest station. There are more girls and women coming in from the country districts there, so I make that station my headquarters. My headquarters I mean that I have my table and chair at the Cotton Belt station."

"My working hours? Oh, from 5 in the morning until 8 at night. I begin in the morning by meeting the trains coming into the Cotton Belt station. I stay there until about noon, then I run over here to the Katy to meet the 12:55 train. There is always some business for me coming in on that train. I remain here until about this time, 4 o'clock, then you will find me back at the other station, where I stay until 8 o'clock. I have been in Waco now a month. At the next meeting of the association, I will make my first report. It may interest you to hear that."

"It's about time for me to get over to the Cotton Belt now. So glad to have been of service to you." And Mrs. French hastened away to get her little handbag and change her base of operations for the day.

Just Affable, Not Voluble. It must not be inferred from the flow of discourse here given that the Travelers' Aid agent is given to loquaciousness. Mrs. French is anything but loquacious. The information obtained from her concerning her work at the railroad stations in Waco was not poured forth volubly in the sequence in which she is quoted. It was extracted only by questioning and persisted in for a full half hour was expended in the extraction.

As she chatted and answered questions gracefully, Mrs. French led her questioner about the waiting room, and it was plainly apparent that the clear, sunny eyes, behind the rimless gold spectacles, lost nothing of what was transpiring in that room. They noted everything and everybody entering or leaving.

And when the cheery woman in black finally decided to rest herself for a minute while she bore further with the newspaper man and his questions it was a seat in the farthest corner in the back of the room that she chose, where the whole room and its occupants were under her immediate and unobstructed observation.

MUST DRINK AT PLACE OF SALE

COMPTROLLER LANE DEFINES MEANING AND PURPOSE OF LIQUOR LAW.

NO LIQUOR IN DINING HALLS

Time Honored Custom of Sending a Waiter to the Neighboring Bar Has Been Outlawed.

Under the ruling of Comptroller W. P. Lane, a guest in the dining hall of a restaurant or hotel cannot employ the waiter in that dining room to procure for him a drink of intoxicating liquor or a bottle of beer from a nearby saloon without the saloon man being involved in a violation of the law that provides that the sale must take place on the premises at which the license is granted.

No Drinks Served Here. Since this ruling has been made, dining halls in Waco have refused to serve drinks, unless the guest who wants the drink goes himself to the bar and carries it into the dining hall. The ruling as made by the comptroller is in language as follows:

"The courts have uniformly held so far as I am advised, that the sale takes place at the point of delivery, and if this is correct, then, of course, if intoxicating liquors are sold and delivered in the dining room of a hotel in which a saloon is located, then, in that event, the dining room premises would be subject to all the provisions of the law regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in the saloon premises proper."

Besides, there can be no question of the fact, as I understand the law, that the waiter who performs this service would be both the agent of the purchaser and of the saloon man. It is my judgment that a saloon keeper must confine the sale of his liquors to the room in which he is entitled to do business and any departure from this uniform rule or provision of the law would be a violation of the law."

Time Honored Custom. The custom has long obtained that a guest in the dining room of a hotel cannot make an order for liquor and have it served and charged on his account. The federal internal revenue laws require this, because if the drink is served by the hotel or restaurant and charged on the account of the guest, the restaurant or hotel would then become the seller of the drink, and not the saloon man. Therefore, it requires that the guest wanting the liquor must give the waiter the money for a minute while she bore further with the newspaper man and his questions it was a seat in the farthest corner in the back of the room that she chose, where the whole room and its occupants were under her immediate and unobstructed observation.

Hotel and Bar Men Anxious. Waco saloon men and the hotels and restaurants are very much exercised over the ruling, and so far the ruling is being followed here. Reports from Houston are that the hotels and restaurants there are following that decision, and in Beaumont also. In Fort Worth there are messengers with badges on who stand around the restaurant prepared to execute any orders for the guests.

Nathan Patten of this city has been employed as attorney for some of the liquor interests in Waco to contest the decision of the comptroller and will go to Austin Friday to go before the attorney general on the question. While the saloon men believe the ruling is contrary to law, they are afraid to go against that which is held by the comptroller because it may jeopardize their license.
